PRINCES PROTECTION BILL UNDER HEAVY FIRE

Out Of The Gloaming.

"Where Truth Is Banned" was the title of a special article by "Scrutator" in "The Chronicle" of June 24.

On his return to the State Old Man Hydari lost no time in confirming the claim of the writer.

* * * *

Mr. B. Das asked the Home Member whether Federation would come in 1939. The answer ought to be in the negative. To a supplementary question as to whether it is coming at all—the answer is Government and Princes are still considering the question.

* * * *

The Home Member speaking on the Princes Protection Bill said that the mere prosecution of an editor was not enough. We suggest that editors should be hanged, drawn and quartered—that will teach them manners and proper respect for the Princes, as well as Home Members.

* * * *

We have great faith in these medieval punishments ourselves, since we are drifting back to 18th century with regard to Press restrictions, according to Mr. Scott and Sir E. Carr. Far better than mere fines and imprisonments.

* * * *

The Catholic Sir H. Haig said: "they could not build Federation on the basis of intolerance." That's why they have Press Laws, Ordinance Acts, Princes Protection Acts, and Heaven alone knows how may more repressive Acts.

* * * *

These are all preliminaries to the building of the superstructure of Federation,—or its foundation, we're not quite sure which. Unless the foundation is secure the Federation might topple down, and that will never do. Save the Federation is the cry now at Simla,—by first jailing the editors!

* * * *

Mr. Das, ignoramus that he is, was surprised that the Criminal Law Amendment Act was to be used for the protection of the Princes. We humbly apologise for his ignorance.

* * * *

If the Act is to be used for the protection of the British Government against "subversive" movements like non-violent civil disobedience,—as treaty Princes they must insist on equality of treatment.

* * * *

It is from these insignificant incidents that liberty is broadened from precedent to precedent. Whatever happens, Federation must be achieved,—doesn't matter if it is after a century or two.

* * * *

Our friend M. K. Acharya tried to explode one of his "Constitutional Bombs" in the columns of the "Madras Mail" and charitably assumed for "argument's sake that Indian politicians will be very sober-minded."

* * * *

We ourselves have no such hopes, from the way M. K. A. has been making his life miserable, with his threat of immolating himself on the banks of the Ganges. But let's hope for the best Ganges water has a curative effect, and may even sober him.

* * * *

The trip to England has been very heady to our friend and he has never been sober since then, particularly about the W. P. and its manifold virtues.

* * * *

M. K. A. concludes his second "Constitutional Bomb" thus: "But is the average Britisher aware that the inevitable result of the W. P. recommendations will be to drive England politically out of India?"

* * * *

Our humble suggestion is that a Society should be formed for the Early Extermination of the White Paper, with limited liabilities, head office to be in London, as a subsidiary to the Defence League, with Lord Lloyd as President.

* * * *

Since the best defence is a strong offensive, Defence Leaguers ought to welcome this new Association for E. E. W. P. If M. K. A. cannot, through sheer modesty, act as the life President in India he ought to be made the Treasurer.

* * * *

No doubt, there will be many local candidates who will vie with M. K. A. for the position. We have got many persons in view, in Bombay, all tried people, but we don't like to spoil the chances of M. K. A. whom we have taken in hand for the moment.

A bishop who was feeling ill called on his doctor.

"You must spend the winter in Algiers," said the doctor.

"Haven't the time," said the bishop.

"Well," said the doctor, "I'm afraid it's a case of either that or —Heaven."

"All right," grumbled the bishop, "I'll go to Algiers."

PERPETUATING "BARBAROUS RULE."

— MR. B. DAS

First Lines Of Defence To Safeguard Autocracy

— MR. JOSHI

SIR C. JEHANGIR URGES CIRCULATION, AS THERE WAS NO NEED FOR DESPERATE HURRY

(From Our Correspondent.)

SIMLA, Sept. 8.

Contrary to expectations, the Reserve Bank Bill, which was introduced in the Assembly, to-day, did not rouse much interest. The reason was that it had more or less dummy clauses in respect of matters which had been left undecided by the London Committee, such as, Relationship with the Imperial Bank.

The Bill has increased the anxiety of non-official parties to send to the Joint Commitee such members as can be trusted to understand the subject, and make an independent stand in promoting a sound national constitution for the Reserve Bank.

The Indian States Protection Bill held the field to-day, and some of the best speeches heard in the House were made, to-day, in criticism of the Bill.

"BARBAROUS" RULE IN STATES.

Mr. B. Das concentrated attention on showing the "barbarous character" of rule in Indian States

Mr. Joshi felt as a Labour leader that here was another attempt to set up "the first lines of defence," to safeguard reaction and autocracy, and condemned this attempt as alien to British traditions.

Mr. Ranga Iyer gave a qualified support to the Bill, and had faith that the States would improve their administrations. Mr. Neogy's was the most thorough attack on the Government policy. He said: "My friend the Home Member is making Federation safe," and the picture he drew incidentally of Federation under the White Paper, was cheered by the Opposition especially, when he said that Sir G. Schuster was leaving to the Finance Minister of future the mere task of levying fresh taxation and the Railway Financial Commissioner would ride the future Minister of Transport, while the Army Member would be so disengaged from the Federal Government's activities as to devote his attention to the Simla A. D. C.'s dramatic performances. He felt doubtful whether Princes as a body had asked for such a bill; and thought it would create distrust, where trust was being generated.

SUPPORTERS OF GOVERNMENT.

Government's supporters were Capt. Shermuhamad Khan and Mr. Anwarul Azim, while an impressive appeal was made by Sir Cowasji Jehangir for circulation, which the Home Member found it difficult to turn down, and promised to consider it.

Sir Cowasji Jehangir thought there was no desperate hurry to which the Home Member replied: "We definitely want this Bill to go through by the January session, provided they are satisfied that the bill would be enacted before the end of March 1934.

The House also had a ruling from the Chair which upheld the view put forward by Sir Lancelot Graham, but the Home Member having committed himself that the object of the Bill was to punish offences committed in British India, the Select Committee would have to alter the section with a view to fulfil that purpose, because as the Bill stands offences committed by Indian States subjects in Indian States would be punishable by British Indian courts.

RESERVE BANK BILL INTRODUCED

SIMLA, Sept. 8.

There was a large attendance in the galleries to-day, owing to the interest roused by business on the agenda.

Government have decided to postpone discussion on the Indian States Protection Bill in order to enable the introduction of other business which would otherwise be clogged.

Sir Joseph Bhore announcing business for the next week said that if Government business did not conclude by Saturday week, the House might have to sit till the end of business, the reason being that it was not desirable to carry to the November session business from this session.

RESERVE BANK BILL.

The President before calling upon Sir George Schuster to introduce the Reserve bank Bill said that owing to special importance he proposed to allow Sir George Schuster to make a longer statement than what convention allowed.

Sir George Schuster said that he was impressed with the full sense of responsibility in making what was perhaps the most important motion, which had fallen to him as Financt Member.

ACT AS BODY UNITED.

Sir George Schuster appealed to members to set aside personal or party considerations, and act as a body united in the common purpose of promoting the security and stability of Indian finance in future. He assured the House that Government was not proceeding with undue speed.

At the same time, the setting up of the Bank was an important step towards the new Constitution, and Government were most anxious to take this opportunity to demonstrate, in a practical manner that the Government of Indian were determined to do all that was possible to prepare the

T. U. Congress' Report On Meerut Case

Methods And Length Of Trial Condemned, As Accused Had Done "Nothing More Than Ordinary T. U. Labour Agitation"

LONDON, Sept. 8.

Mr. George Hicks, the builders' Leader, presented a report of the General Council of the Trade Union Congress on the Meerut Trial, expressing condemnation of the methods and the length of the trial, as the accused had done nothing more than what was ordinarily regarded as the Trade Union labour practice, throughout the world.

The Council requested a meeting with the Secretary of State for further discussion on the matter and demanded compensation for "those unjustly imprisoned."

The Trade Union Congress adopted the report giving the Council discretionary powers in connection with the financial assistance to a possible campaign in favour of the convicted persons.—Reuter.

AHMEDABAD TEXTILE DISPUTE

Mill Owners Suggest Another Arbitrator In Place Of Gandhiji

AHMEDABAD, Sept. 8.

In view of the delicate health of Gandhiji and his pre-occupation with important national problems, the Mill-owners Association has made a suggestion for the appointment of another person as arbitrator in place of Mahatma Gandhi for the settlement of the question of collection of subscription of the members of the Labour Union, which has been under dispute.

The Labour Union has replied to this suggestion stating that reference of the question to arbitration had been, so long, postponed as both the Mill-owners Association and the Labour Union recognised that in the interests of industrial peace the question could only be settled with Gandhiji's help, and it was therefore, advisable that Mahatmaji's presence in Bombay should be availed if as desired by him.

The Labour Union further states that it forwarded the correspondence to Gandhiji only when the Mill-owners Association insisted on immediate settlement of the question, and refused to negotiate a settlement by mutual discussion.

The Labour Union has, however, forwarded the new suggestion of the Mill-owners Association to Mahatma.—A. P.

HIS CAWNPORE SPEECH NOT CORRECTLY REPORTED

Maulana Shaukat Ali Contends It Is Not Possible For 'Madrasi' Reporters To Follow Urdu

Maulana Saukat Ali was further cross-examined on Friday at the resumed hearing of the case in which he is charging Mr. S. Sadanand, Editor, and Mr. N. D. Nadkarni, Printer, of the Free Press Journal, and the now defunct "Free Press Bulletin" with defamation in respect of certain articles published in the issues of the paper in May 1932. Maulana Shaukat Ali had not concluded his evidence in cross-examination, although he has been in the witness-box for four days, when further hearing of the case was fixed for September 13 at 3-30 p.m.

TORN AWAY FOR CONTEXT.

Mr. Kanuga questioned witness about the speech he had made at Cawnpore in November 1928 and also in respect of certain editorials appearing in the issues of the "Khilafat" which counsel maintained were written to excite and inflame the passions of the Muslims against the Hindus. Several of these editorials were read "in toto" in Court by th witness, who sought to explain the construction that should be put on the passages pointed out by the defence counsel as against the implication those passages would have if they were torn away from their context.

CLOUDING MAIN ISSUE.

Mr. D. N. D. Khandalawalla, Chief Presidency Magistrate, before whom the case came up for hearing, observed that the record of the case was being burdened with issues which tended to cloud the main issues in the case and he could not therefore allow exhibits to go in unless they were material to the case.

Mr. Kanuga pointed out that he was endeavouring to prove that Maulana Shaukat Ali was responsible for the rits of May 1932 and he was therefore putting in articles and editorials which appeared in the "Daily Khilafat", the official organ of the Central Khillafat Committee. Some of these articles had been written by Maulana Shaukat Ali while the others which were editorials although not written by him, Maulana Shaukat Ali must take the responsibility for them as Editor of the paper.

EMBARRASSING TO MAGISTRATE.

The Magistrate observed that in trying a case of defamation he could be asked at the same time to come to a decision in this case whether the articles the defence counsel sought to tender were such as to inflame or excite the passions of one community against another. Besides, His Worship, observed it was very embarrassing to him to take on record reports of incidents, meetings and other public utterances which had no bearing on this case.

CAWNPORE SPEECH.

Continuing his evidence Maulana Shaukat Ali in reply to Mr. Kanuga said that report appearing in the "Times of India" was a translation of the Urdu version of the speech he had made at Cawnpore and it did not correctly represent what he had actually stated at the meeting. He admitted having given expresstion to certain passages as reported in the "Times of India."

DISCREPANCIES.

Maulana Shaukat Ali explaining another report appearing in the "Times of India," said that it was not correct in facts. He stated that the reporters were "Madrasis" and it was therefore not possible for them to follow accurately what was spoken in Urdu and that accounts for these discrepancies.

Maulana Shaukat Ali was then cross-examined on a statement published of the proceedings of the annual general meeting of the Bombay Citizens' Conciliation Committee presided over by Mr. Boman Behram. Witness said that it is not true that he foretold at that time what was going to happen in May.

Mr. Kanuga asked witness whether it was a fact that on April 1 he had stated "something terrible was going to happen very soon which would mar the fair name of Bombay"? Maulana said he did not remember at this date what he actually said, but what counsel had put to him was not spoken by him.

DADAR FRACAS ECHO

The cross-examination of the witness then centred round the fracas that took place on 20th April 1932 at Dadar. Witness said that in the affray that took place at Dadar one Muslim volunteer was killed and he had gone there to quieten the mob. He had also made certain allegations against a certain Hindu Police Inspector before the Coroner at the inquest. He admitted that thereafter he had made an appeal for 10,000 volunteers, the object of which he said was to preserve peace between the two communities as these volunteers could act as a "wedge" between the combatants in case of any fracas or riot.

At this stage further hearing was adjourned.

The Imperial Bank of India Rate of interest on Demand Loans on Government Paper remains unchanged at 3 1/2 per cent.

GHOST IN HINDU'S TURBAN

Muslim Fakir Arrested For Exorcising It

The story of how a Hindu was caught hold of by two Muslim fakirs on Thursday evening and told that he was possessed of a ghost and that they would exorcise it if he paid them Rs. 20; and how on his refusal to pay the amount his turban began to smoke and he burnt his head and fingers was narrated on Friday before Mr. P. L. Thakker, Presidency Magistrate Mazagaon, when one Sakhi Mastan Tajuddin was placed before the Magistrate.

When he reached the foot of the Railway Bridge, the accused and another fakir suddenly dragged him to the footpath where he was made to sit and the first accused informed the Hindu that he was possessed of a ghost. The Hindu was further told that they would exercise the same if he paid them Rs. 20|-. Luxman said that he had no money with him and wanted to go away. The other fakir, who is absconding, rushed after him and dragged him back. That fakir placed his hand on hhe turban of Luxman. Immediately the fakir touched it. Luxman began to feel a burning sensation on his head and saw smoke issuing from the turban. He caught hold of the turban and threw it away and thus got his fingers also burnt. The absconding fakir told Luxman, that it was the work of the ghost which had possessed him. By that time, a policeman was informed of the incident as he was passing along and the above accused was arrested, while the other one ran away.

The Magistrate ordered the accused to be released on a bail of Rs. 50|- with one surety till September 15.

DRAMATIC STORY AT "CAPITOL"

Helen Hayes Stars In "Sin Of Madelon Claudet"

The story of a woman who descends to the lowest depths in order to ensure the happiness of her son is told in "The Sin of Madelon Claudet", which will open to-day at the Capitol Theatre. The picture was adapted from the Edward Knoblock stage success, "The Lullaby".

Helen Hayes, the distinguished actress, who won the Motion Picture Academy Award for her performance in this picture, is in the cast which includes Lewis Stone. Neil Hamilton, Robert Young, Cliff Edwards, Jean Hersholt, Marie Prevost, Karen Morley, Charles Winninger, Alan Hale, Halliwell Hobbes, Lennox Pawle and Russ Powell.

Miss Hayes is called upon to effect a striking change of make-up during the course of the picture, in which she is first seen as an attrative young girl and later as a haggard old woman. The plot concerns the melodramatic career of the girl from the time she elopes with an artist against the wishes of her family through the vicissitudes of her life, in which she is thrown into prison and is subsequently forced to adopt the most shameful means of livelihood in order to support her child.

Her points of dramatic interest occur in the scenes in which the father of Madelon attempts to coerce her into a marriage with a person whom she despises: her escape from home with Larry, the young artist; the forced departure of Larry for America, the meeting of Madelon and Boretti, in which the ugly duckling becomes a swan.

FILM HAS STRONG CLIMAX.

The striking climax occurs in the episode in which Boretti, revealed as a thief, commits suicide and Madelon, unjustly indicated as his accomplice is sent to prison. Following her release, the state refuses to return her son to a "jail-bird". The remainder of the story concerns Madelon's heroic efforts to prevent her past from marrying her son's career.

Provincial France is contrasted with the gaicty and color of Paris night life and the contrast of back-ground and characterization is again emphasised when the heroine is transported from a dingy laundry in which she has been employed to a luxurious apartment, of which she becomes the mistress. In the latter scenes, in which the central figure gradually falls to the lowest strata of Paris life, the picture has been compared both to "Madame X" and "Stella Dallas" in its sweep and emotional appeal.

AL JOLSON IN "HALLELUJAH" AT WELLINGTON

After his great success in the "Jazz Singer" and "The Singing Fool", shown in Bombay long ago, Al Jolson appears in a still more dramatic role with many musical numbers in United Artists' new release "Hallelujah, I'm a Tramp" showing at the Wellington from to-night.

Six song-hits, composed by Richard Rodgers and Larry Hart, are an inherent part of the film-story which, it is claimed, promises a revolutionary method of presenting music on the screen. Among the song-hits, are such tuneful numbers as "Hallelujah, Jin a Bum", "You are too beautiful", "Sleeping Beauty," etc.

In this production, the famous comedian has introduced a new screen-technique. Jolson and the supporting players put the story over in a method which might be called "musical conversation" or "rhythmic dialogue". The story concerns a band of happy-go-lucky vagabonds who have a gay time until their leader goes to work, and falls in love with a girl. This upsets the whole gang, but after many exciting incidents, all ends well. The principals carry the plot forward on the wings of living song and spoken dialogue. The supporting cast includes Madge Evans, Louise Carver, and Doothea Walbert.

"THE LITTLE DAMOZEL" AT ROXY

The "Little Damozel" released by United Artists at the Roxy Cinema to-night introduces the charming star Anna Neagle who first scored a hint in the "Fly Lieutenant".

Anna Wedgie's part, calls for the expression of an extraordinary dual personality. One the sweet and sympathetic Anna Neagle, already familiar on the screen; the other, a light-hearted, wise-cracking, hard-boiled night-club singer and dancer,—the role she has in this picture. She receives splendid support from James Rennie, Athol Stewart and Alfred Drayton.

The film is based on the famous play which was successfully presented in London and New York and given a command performance before King Edward and Queen Alexandra.

BELGIUM HONOURS JEANETTE

Jeanette MacDonald's host of friends in Hollywood have just learned that during her recent triumphal concert tour of the European capitals, she was decorated by the Belgium Government. The Order of the Belgium Griffon by the City of Brussels was awarded her, following her sensational premiere at the Alhambra Theatre in that city. Lieut.-Gen. Biebuyck, aide-de-camp to King Albert, represented His Majesty at th presentation, which was attended by the royal entourage.

The titian-haired American stage and screen star is enormously popular on the Continent, but nowhere is she held in greater esteem than in Belgium, a fact she quickly discovered at the gala reception accorded her in Brussels. Burgomaster Max, of world-war fame, led the festivities, which tied up traffic for two hours. With her concert tour now a pleasant memory, Miss MacDonald is again turning her thoughts to pictures. She is under contract to British and Dominions Film Corporation to make two films in London for United Artists release. Herbert Marshall will be co-starred in both productions, the first of which is titled "The Queen."

LEWIS STONE and HELEN HAYES in "THE SIN OF MADELON CLAUDET"

commencing to-day at the capitol.

Suicide Club Busy

How Stunt Artists Eard Their Money

The boom in aviation pictures is proving a boon to filmland's famous Suicide Club. They are getting more work than for many months.

Officially known as the Motion Picture Pilots' Association, the group was organised in 1922 as the Thirteen Flying Black Cats, although they numbered but ten at the time. They were all World War aces, recently demobilised.

Of that number Grace to-day is the best known of all stunt flyers, having not only participated in most of the hair-raising air scenes of the more outstanding pictures, but he also has written of his experiences for leading magazines. Grace, Goebel Clark and Boutellier are still alive.

Leo Nomis, having survived 34 crack-ups, was killed in "Sky Bride;" Jerry Phillips came down in flames during the making of "Wings"; "War Correspondent" proved Roy Wilson's undoing, while Al Wilson died last year while performing at the Cleveland Air Races.

The Suicide Club is not to be confused with the ordinary Hollywood stunt men, who jump off buildings, fall from rafters and what not. To become a member of the club a flyer must be able to perform difficult stunts—the Immelman, the falling leaf, slow rolls, snap rolls, loops and dives —and must be able to operate an aerial camera and a machine gun.

Boutellier, who did the "crack-up" scenes for Paramount's "The Eagle and the Hawk," is facetiously referred to as being the highest paid writer in Hollywood, although no scenarist, gagman or journalist.

He is one of the three most famous sky-writers in the world and receives £200 for five minutes of this type of work in the air.

FAMOUS AUSTRIAN OPERA SINGER MAKES HER FILM DEBUT

A fashionable restaurant in the days of the old Austrian Empire—in the Sascha Studios in Sievering, the quaint, old-fashioned suburb of Vienna. The "Grand Duchess Alexandra", Leo Slezak and Johannes Riemann, all slightly exalted by champagne, sitting at one table from 9 in the morning, until midnight, or later, if necessary. Paul Hartmann, of the Vienna Burgtheater, the hero, and Szoke Szakall, the famous comedian, hovering some place in the background.

"The Grand Duchess Alexandra" is, of course, Kammersangerin Marie Jeritza, beloved opera-singer of two continents, who is making her first film and rather likes it. The Balalaika orchestra, which plays-almost uninteruptedly, you might think was playing Russian music, but actually it is the best work of Franz Lehar, who has written this picture for Vienna's first monumental film operetta. Jeritza has taken a feather out of the Big Chiefs' caps in Hollywood and is producing a real Austria film, with real Austrian actors, in the genuine Viennese environment and atmosphere, writes the "Vienna Herald".

"I have been in Stimmung ("on the verge of tipsy", "ready for love"—untranslatable!) since 9 this morning", said Madame Jeritza (Baroness Popper in private life), who looks as perennialy youthful and beautiful as ever, to the editor of "The Vienna Herald", "and still nothing happens."

We were permitted to watch the taking and retaking of a "scene of animated gaiety" at least six times, during which Kammersanger Leo Slezak had to "keep smiling" and Jeritza and Riemann had to hum a "gay little Russian air" while Slezak beat time with his hands.

"My cheeks are quite lame through this perpetual grinning", said Slezak. Riemann did not say anything, but tenaciously held Jeritza's hand.

Director Wilhelm Thiele must be an enthusiast, for he is the soul of patience. "Really", said Jeritza, "we all get on together like one large family. I never saw such a spirit of harmony anywhere.

"It's a good thing we are all Austrians, cheery and good-natured, for it's an awful grind and takes for ever, and the camera must not record the grinding machinery. We even have to our voices will be smooth, too. There is only one compensation. We can sit on listening to Lehar's music all day free of charge.

"Am I excited about my first film? Of course, I am. It has always been my dream to make a genuine Viennese film operetta in Vienna, in the real atmosphere. We are all tremendously enthusiastic about it, and are certainly gratified at the enormous interest being shown throughout the world Countless telegrams arrive daily from America and England, asking when we shall be finished.

"I am most happy about filming for my American audiences, for of course, I love the United States better than any place outside of Austria, and I am so glad they are going to see something genuine of our own, at last, instead of the Hollywood or Berlin version of Vienna."

The story of the Jeritza film is by the famous Austrian dramatist Hans Sassmann, Jeritza is heard as a cabaret-star, as a singer in a Cossack dive and on the opera-stage. In other words, the audience gets its money's worth. The producer is Director Oscar Gluck.

Charlie Pokes Fun At Hitler

Will Appear On Screen Minus His Famous Moustache

Charlie Chaplin is about to appear in a film for the first time in his movie career without his famous moustache because it makes him resemble Hitler, writes a Paris correspondent of "Daily Express."

Great secrecy is being observed in the making of the film on which he is now working in Hollywood. Details concerning the move have been given to me by an intimate intend ofh Chaplin a prominent Hollywood casting director who is now on holiday in Paris.

Chaplin, who is of Jewish origin, intends to appear in his next film minus his moustache as a silent protest against the anti-Jewish drives in Germany.

The picture opens with Chaplin, the same poor outcast of society, entering a barber's shop to obtain a free shave. Cane, shoes, bowler hat and moustache are all there. But when he leaves the shop his moustache is missing.

SCREEN PROTEST.

This is how it happens:

Charlie looks round the room at the pictures of the celebrates on the walls. His eye lights on a portrait of Hitler. He touches his upper lip and from that moment the famous moustache is doomed. He picks up a razor, and unobserved by those in the shop he shaves off his moustache and walks out.

The whole thing is so cleverly done that for the moment the audience does not grasp the significance of the act.

I understand that although he has been warned that this s may result in the film b banned by the Nazis involving a considerable loss from the German sales Chaplin is determined to go ahead with his project.

JOHN PUTS IT THERE

During a recent Eastern visit, John Gilbert sought relief from the autograph-seekers in a somewhat disreputable Greenwich Village resort. At a table across the floor sat a frowzy blonde whose cavalier was a huge and evidently belligerent pugilist. Spying Gilbert, the blonde made her unsteady way across the floor and demanded an autograph.

"Certainly," said Gilbert smiling, "have you a piece of paper."

"Don't want it on paper," said the blonde, "put it there."

"There" proved to be a portion of her anatomy which she bared by pulling down the shoulder of her gown and Gilbert, blushing, refused. At that moment the pugilist, who had been an interested spectator, lumbered across the floor. Fearing that the man intended violence because of the undraped condition of his lady, Gilbert prepared for the worst.

"Lissen mug," growled the pug, grasping Gilbert by the coat lapel, "do what the lady says, if she says put it there, then you put it there."

And Gilbert, still blushing, did.

SCREEN TOPICS

SIXTEEN NEW STARS

Sixteen new screen stars have popped up in the last year. They are: Mae West, Miriam Hopkins, George Raft, Helen Hayes, Jean Harlow, Irene Dunne, Katharine Hepburn, Fay Wray, Jimmy Durante, Lionel Barrymore, Lee Tracy, Warren William, Leslie Howard, Walter Huston, and Slim Summerville and Zasu Pitts.

REALISM

Scouring the casting lists for a 100 per cent. Irishman to play an important role in Gaynor's picture, "Paddy-The-Next-Best-Thing," Fox unearthed Roger Imhof who fills the bill to perfection. Imhof is 100 per cent. Scandinavian, without a drop of Irish blood in his veins.

RAMON'S NEXT

Ramon Novarro's latest picture, another smash hit, is "The Barbarian." When he returns from his successful European concert tour he will be co-starred with Jeanette MacDonald in a picture version of the Broadway musical comedy, "The Cat and the Fiddle."

THEY TAKE IT EASY

Hollywoodites are so accustomed to seeing motion picture scenes being filmed on the street that when a policeman fired on a bandit car outside a studio they looked on unperturbed, thinking it a scene for another gangster film!

"MONSTER'S" RETURN ENGAGEMENT

A message from New York reports that the break between the studio and Karloff has been ended with the company giving the star a new two-picture contract.

Details of the productions are not yet available, although "The Suicide Club," "The Man Who Reclaimed His Head," and other likely subjects are on the stocks at Universal City. The report adds significantly that Karloff will no doubt find a keen competitor for the "horror" crown in another Englishman, Claude Rains, who has the role originally intended for Boris in the Wells' story.

DIVORCE SPREE

Hollywood can't and won't stay married. First Joan Crawford and Doug Jr. split. Then Mary and Doug follow suit. Richard Dix says "too much social whirl" and tells it to the judge. And Carole Lombard does it the Reno way with Bill Powell.

A London reporter predicts that you may expect any morning's headlines to tell you that Ruth Chatterton and George Brent have stopped cooing . . . and that Norman Foster and Claudette Colbert are "tired of it all." . . . The latest definition of Hollywood life: Where the marriage seldom lasts as long as the bride's permanent wave.

A NEW DOLORES

Dolores Del Rio! That famed euphonious name will ring out again to audiences of the screen world. Dolores is coming back—not as the sleek-haired, exotic Spanish senorita who retired one year ago, but as a new, glamorous, bob-haired sophisticate. Already, her fans, registering a total in the hundreds of thousands, have written their congratulations and Dolores will not disappoint them. She will make two pictures under a new contract with Radio, and while her first one is in preparation she is studying dancing lessons from a former Pavlova ballet dancer.

ANOTHER "SECRET" FILM

All the customary well publicised secrecy is accompanying the birth pangs of H. G. Wells "The Invisible Man" at Universal City.

The general trend of the latest bulletins is "how will the titular character be shown on the screen?" The film, is being made behind those well-known locked doors and all technicians on the set have been sworn to silence.

As in the case of Karloff in "Frankenstein," "still" photographs of "the invisible man" have been banned.

"This much you can say," writes James Whale, who is directing the film, "the invisible man' is "not wrapped in cellophane."

STOP EXPLOITING SWADESHI SPIRIT FOR PERSONAL ENDS

Bombay Citizens Warn Industrialists And Mill Magnates Not To Take Unfair Advantage Of People's Zeal For Swadeshi

A note of warning to Indian industrialists and mill magnates to stop exploiting the swadeshi spirit for personal profiteering and to set an example to the consumers in the matter of giving wider patronage to swadeshi products themselves, was contained in speeches delivered at a public meeting held in the Sir C. J. Hall on Friday evening.

The meeting was part of the programme arranged by the Swadeshi League in connection with the Swadeshi festival.

Prof. P. A. Wadia who presided declared that the cult of swadeshi was the stepping stone, the indispensable stage of national self-respect, on which India could rise into the larger life of international co-operation and commerce.

A fancy dress competition in which little boys and girls took part, was a feature of the meting. The prizes for the most beautiful costumes were carried by two-girls one of whom was decked in the fashion of a Kutchi girl and the other in the robes of a Punjabi girl. The prize for the most original costume was awarded to a boy who imitated a Mopla cocoanut seller.

CLAMOUR FOR PROTECTION.

Prof. P. A. Wadia in the course of his speech said that the clamour for the protection of industries in India was only a phase of that economic selfishness that was not even national but a class selbishness which was in conflict with the general interests of the nation. To strengthen the cause of large scale industries run by capitalism was to prolong the process of economic sufferings by substitution of masters of our own kith and kin for masters who belonged to a different race. The cult of swadeshi in India was primarily the cult of an economic order in which the masses of India could have opportunities of a full life.

Swadeshi is economic Nationalism continued the speaker. "Economic Nationalism as it exists to-day in the world has two aspects. Militant nationalism is associated with armaments and is born and bred and develops in an atmosphere of hatred. Manifested (1) in the tariffs of the new Europe of 1919, (2) in the scramble for coal and iron and oil and cotton; (3) in monetary policies of the world since 1931. (4) in the mandate system of the League of Nations, (5) in the exploitation of backward tracts.

SWADESHI—THE ONLY WAY.

"There is another phase of this very argument—which we may also keep in view. The life of nations is not unlike the life of individuals. So long as the individual is economically dependent on another, he lacks the material opportunities for leisure and freedom which are so intimately associated with the fulness of life. So also the nation that is economically dependent on others is lacking in the opportunities for national self-expression. If the India of the future is to take its place as an equal partner in the family of nations, it can only win that place by economic planning in the first instance directed to its own interests: and the cult of Swadeshi is only another name for the response on the part of the social environment to the economic planning started by the organism or shall we rather say cult of Swadeshi is the stimulus on the part of the social environment that will call forth national economic planning on the part of a free India of the future?

INSPIRED BY LOVE

"Swadeshi for which we stand here to-day is inspired by that imponderable that men call love and that we are assigning to this spirit of love the task of unravelling the mysterious complex of ethnology and history and economics which make up the passions and misunderstandings and also the possibilities of the greater India that belongs to the future."

COMMERCIAL IMPORTANCE

Mr. A. D. Shroff decalred that Swadeshi as he understood was nothing but the he[illegible] exprienced by every patriotic son and daughter of India for the fullest utilisation of the material resources of this country for the advancement of their economic well being.

The speaker thought that workers in the field of swadeshi had not yet realised the importance of the commercial aspect of the question. He was afraid that in this country the swadeshi movement had only resulted in the capitalists replacing the foreigners. Indian industrialists ought to realise that they could not go on exploting the swadeshi spirit for mere profiteering and must try their best to give to the consumers the best value for the money.

UNFAIR TREATMENT

Mr. Jamnadas Mehta said that while he was for giving adequate protection to struggling Indian industries he would insist on Industrialists and mill magnates treating their workers fairly and squarely. It was not fair that the industrialist who earned their profits from the middle class and poor consumers should exploit workers and make them work under most inhuman conditions in their factories.

Mrs. Lilavati Munshi emphasised that Swadeshi was the best weapon for relieving unemployment.

PREACHERS MUST PRACTICE.

Mr. Jamnadas Dwarkadas said that although Swadeshi was very popular with the masses the capitalists and millowners were known to patronise foreign stuff. So long as millowners themselves did not practice what they wanted to preach to the consumers, they could not expect Swadeshi to thrive.

Mr. Ramchandra Iyer declared that due to the Swadeshi spirit the Indian Insurance Companies were able to underwrite nearly treble the volume of business in the course of a few years. This was possible in other branches of industries.

Mr. Manekla! Vakil declared that unless they had political powers in their hands and unless the political power represented the will of the masses it was not possible for them to solve the many problems they were faced with including swadeshi.

Sir HYDE CLARENDON GOWAN, the Governor-designate of the Central Provinces, arrived in Bombay, on Friday morning, by the Mail Boat "Mantua."

RIGHTS OF LANDLORDS.

ALLAHABAD, Sept. 8.

Dr. Shaafat Ahmad Khan who has been elected to preside at the All India Muslim Conference at Patna on September 30th and October 1st addressed a meeting of the Anjuman British India Association at Lucknow and referred to the draft he was preparing for incorporation in the Constitution for protecting the rights of landlords in accordance with the suggestions made by the Secretary of State, who in reply to questions by Dr. Khan promised to consider any draft of the clause as regards property rights that Dr. Khan should send in.—A. EDUCATIONIST PASSES AWAY

Mr. C. S. Nanavaty Dies Suddenly At Junagadh

We regret to announce the sad and sudden demise from heart failure of Mr. Chhelshankar S. Nanavaty of Junagadh, which took place at his residence on Thursday evening last.

Mr. Nanavaty was a member of the senior staff of the Bahadur khanji High School of Junagadh, the premier, State of Kathiawar, which place he held with honour credit and increasing popularity for thirty six years.

The deceased belonged to a respected and respectable family of Kathiawar. He was universally regarded as a man who lived upto his high and noble ideals, and by his supremely ardent and sincere love for the student world he had made himself an idol of love and respect to them. His exemplary character and brilliant career had a great influence in moulding the moral stamina of a host of pupils among whom may be counted Messrs. Mahadev Desai (Secretary of Mahatma Gandhi), Balubhai T. Desai M.L.A., Capt. P. T. Mazumdar M.B., C.A.B., (Edin), C.M.O., Junagadh State, Major Chowan I.M.S., Chhaganlal P. Nanavaty, Major R.N. Karode M. D. I.M.S. (Rtd), and many more holding high positions in public.

Mr. C. S. Nanavati

His death was peaceful and painless as was his life dignified, pure and religious. Devoted to the study of "English and Sanskrit literature as he was, he had a keen insight in educational problems, and he always kept himself occupied with the furtherance of the cause of education which he had ever at heart.

In him, the Junagadh public has lost a distinguished citizen of repute who had a high sense of duty and sacrifice. His death has steeped the public in profound sorrow. He leaves behind him a large family and a wide circle of friends including Sir J. C. Coyajee, Rao Bahadur Tribhuwanrai D. Rana, Ex-Dewan of Junagadh, Mr. Shivdattrai T. Mankad, Nayab Dewan and member of Council, Junagadh etc.

The staff and students of the Bahadurkhanji High School have joined the public in mourning his irreparable loss and sympathising in the bereavement of the widow of the deceased and the family by passing a resolution at their meeting held on Saturday last.

It would not be too much to hope that in consideration of the meritorious and devoted services of the popular deceased the State will afford an opportunity in Selecting his eldest son Mr. M. C. Nanavaty B.A., LL.B., for a deserving post in one of its many departments. May his soul rest in eternal peace!

STOP PRESS

MAHATMA ON "SCIENCE OF FASTING."

POONA, Sept. 8.

Replying to the criticism in the "Modern Review" that though fasts undertaken solely for self-purification and consolation are the exclusive concern of individual fasting, fasts undertaken directly or indirectly to bring about political changes have a coercive effect, even though coercion may not be intended.

Gandhiji writes editorially in the "Harijan" on the "Science of fasting". The article in the "Modern Review" contends that both the September and last fasts of Mahatma Gandhi were coercive.

Gandhiji writes: "With much of what the writer says I can readily agree. I do admit that the fast of September last did unfortunately coerce some people into action, which they would not have endorsed without my fast. I do admit also that my last fast coerced Government into releasing me. I admit, too, that such coercion can and does sometimes lead to insincere conduct. That is about the extent of my argument.

GREAT NEED FOR CAUTION.

These admissions do not cut however, at the very root of fasts. They only show that there is great need for caution and special qualifications are necessary for those who would resort to fasting as a method of reform or securing justice. In any examination of moral conduct, intention is the chief ingredient. Being concerned with the morality of my action I asserted that the intention behind my fast was not to exert coercion or pressure upon Government. I wanted Government to take me at my word and let me die in peace, if they could not see the justice of granting me the facilities I desired. Production of my letter would have absolved them from the charge of heartlessness if I had died in prison. I did indeed know that my fast was likely, despite the declaration of my intention to the contrary, to influence Government to some extent but one may not be deflected from the right course for fear of the possible but unintended consequences."—A. Face Peeling At Home

Any woman nowadays may quickly rejuvenate her complexion at home by a safe and painless process of gentle absorption. The days of expensive and dangerous "operations" are past, and each woman can be her own beauty doctor. It has been discovered that ordinary mercolized wax, applied like cold cream at night, will cause the thin veil of lifeless, sallow or blotchy cuticle to gradually and gently flake off in invisible, flour-like particles, revealing the fresh, vigorous and beautiful young skin underneath. The wax absorbs only the unhealthy and unsightly outer film, and does not affect the healthy tissue at all.

The process defies detection, and unveils a lasting and beautiful complexion, which is, of course, a perfectly natural one. For this purpose thousands of women are now using mercolized wax, which may be obtained at any chemists. Naturally, the process also removes all such surface blemishes as freckles, blotches, pimples, tan, liver spots, etc. It makes the face look years younger and prettier, and renders the use of face creams unnecessary.

SUPPORTING STATES' MAL-ADMINISTRATION

way for making tht constitution a reality.

Sir George Schuster explained why it was held that the only satisfactory way to frame the White Paper proposals was to do so on the assumption that an independent Reserve Bank would be in being when the time came for setting up the new constitution. In the preparation of the Bill they had had two things to work on the Bill of 1928 and the London Committee's Report.

The Committee proposed certain definite changes and recommended that several important points on which it was unable to make final recommendations should receive further consideration in India. The definite proposals of the Committee had been incorporated in the Bill.

As regards the points which were to receive further consideration in India (and these included some points which were not subjects for legislation in a Bill, but which would have to be dealt with in subsidiary agreements), he had not the time on his return to gibe them full consideration which they deserved, and moreover. Government desired to consider them in consultation with representatives of the Indian Legislature, before Government could commit itself finally to definite proposals.

APPEAL TO MEMBERS OF HOUSE.

When the time came Government would be ready to assist the Joint Committee with definite proposals. All clauses of the Bill, including those which were baed on London Committee's recommendation, would be open for discussion in the Committee. He hoped that members would enter upon the discussions with a strong disposition to accept the Committee's recommendations reached after prolonged, careful and representative discussion in London.

Sir George Schuster finally mentioned that the House would carry the responsibility of shaping the destinies of India under the new constitution. Strictly speaking the wording of the Bill would have to be appropriate to the existing Constitution, but as the Secretary of State had said they were desirous that the present legislation should be so framed as to be appropriate, with the minimum change, to the conditions which would prevail under the new constitution. He appealed to unofficial parties to elect such members to the Joint Committee who were best qualified to give valuable counsel. The matter was attracting wide attention outside India, and the eyes of many countries would be on these proceedings.

"As one who is proud to be a member of this Legislature, I would appeal to my fellow members to demonstrate once again how the Indian Legislature can rise to its responsibilities." (Cheers).

R. B. BILL INTRODUCED.

The Reserve Bank Bill was introduced.

Sir Frank Noyce introduced the the Indian Factories Bill.

He suggested that the Select Committee should not meet until January 1934, and said that two experts, with knowledge of factores would assist Members of the Committee in their deliberations. He was not in favour of circulating the Bill.

Mr. Bajpai introduced the Tea Control Bill.

The House resumed discussion on the Indian States Protection Bill.

Mr. B. Das, continuing his speech on the Princes Protection Bill, said that forced labour was rampant in many States, if not all of them. He said the subjects of States paid taxes in equal measure to those in British India. Why then should they be forced to carry out the behests, not only of the rulers but also of their stellites. There was a time when Indian rulers looked to the interests of the subjects, but after the advent of the British, Political Agents, Agents-to-Governor-General, and other officers constantly toured the States and Princes had taken a fancy to arrange shikars and other paraphernalia very often, with the result that people were put to considerable inconvenience.

PERPETUATING "BARBAROUS RULE"

While they would be equal in the Federation, why should they now pass laws to perpetuate "barbarous rule" to continue in the Indian States. The Home Member himself had said that he was not in a hurry. Therefore, he hoped, that the House would agree to circulate the Bill.

Mr. Ranga Iyer offered a qualified support to the bill for reference to the Select Committee. Referring to Kashmir agitation, he said, had this bill been in existence, mischievous, wicked and unpardonable propaganda carried on against the Hindu administration to bring down the prestige and power of a respected dynasty would have been prevented. Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru had already declared that the energies of the Congress were going to be directed in two directions, one in an agrarian revolt against the present system of Zamindari, and, secondly, against autocracy in the Indian States.

This Bill aimed at putting down the forces that collected in British India and invaded in Jathas for the purposes of agitation. He considered that the encouraging of forces in British India even for constitutional agitation in an Indian State was an unhealthy feature. From his own experience of journalism, he had found that English papers were not so flagrantly attacking State administration as a section of the Vernacular press.

Mr. G. P. Singh: What about the "Statesman's" tirade against Kashmir?

Mr. Ranga Iyer: "I hope Government will be fair in treating all sections of the Press, whether Anglo-Indian or Indian." Proceeding Mr. Ranga Iyer, as a strong supporter of Federation, expected that States would rise from within and allow healthy criticism, and lift themselves politically, administratively and constitutionally to save their status as Indian Provinces.

It was a most complicated measure; therefore, circulation would be very helpful. He hoped that Government would agree to it before January.

SUPPORTING MAL-ADMINISTRATION

Mr. N. M. Joshi said that in effect the Bill aimed at supporting mal-administration in Indian States. Indian rulers had been agitating at the Round Table Conference that their own Government should have no connection with the Federal Government, in the matter of law and order, but they wanted the Governor-General to be personally responsible to protect their rights and privileges. They demanded reciprocal treatment, and came forward for help to put down rebellion and agitation. The Government of India wielded power over the Indian States, but it was very limited.

Under the White Paper a ruler or any States subject had the right of equal right of citizenship in British India, but that right was denied to British Indians. People of Indian States had not even elementary rights. In any conference on constitutional reforms all sides were represented, but States subjects were refused even to appear as witnesses. It might be a line of defence, as Mr. James had declared on the resolution of proprietory rights yesterday. But Government would be disappointed, as they would realise soon that that would not last long.

APPEAL TO BRITISH GOVT.

Concluding Mr. Joshi said, if the British Government intended staying on in this country, let them not depend on the forces of reaction and autocracy, and if they did so, that would be to the eternal disgrace of the traditions of British History.

MONGREL CONSTITUTION.

Mr. K.C. Neogy, while complimenting the Princes on the noble stand they had made in London much to the disappointment of the Conservative and Diehard elements in London and India, in asking for self-government for the motherland, said that very few, if any, princes were prepared to make concessions of a constitutional character in favour of their people.

The speaker favoured Federation first, but now he found that the White Paper gave them a mongrel constitution. The Home Member had said that he was busy making India safe for Federation.

As for his other colleagues, Sir Joseph Bhore was setting up an independent Railway authority so that Mr. Rau, the Financial Commissioner, could ride the future Minister of Transport. (Laughter) Sir Frank Noyce was busy on the ground of co-ordination, taking away Minister's Powers over Roads.

The Law Member without administrative portfolio was engaged in abetment with other colleagues.

PICTURE OF FEDERAL CONSTITUTION.

The Army Secretary being a future Councillor could under the new constitution give more attention to the Simla Amateur Dramatic Club than the Assembly. (Laughter). Mr. Glancy could bring his future bills in secret codes, and enact them as acts of the Governor-General, and Sir George Schuster was engaged in lightening the labours of future Finance Ministers and leaving them the task only of raising the taxation for the benefit of the Governor-General. (Cheers). That was a picture of the Federal constitution they were having.

Mr. Neogy enquired whether the Princes had asked for this measure because Princes had definitely declared that they would have nothing to do with the British Indian Legislature and would have relations only with the Crown.

Sir Cowasji, interrupting, said that under the future constitution legislation for reserved Departments would come before the Legislature.

Mr. Neogy held that, that might be a form of procedure, but the Princes did not want protection from any other authority except the Governor-General. Had they asked for this Bill? The speaker next dealt with the clauses of the Bill and said that the original author of Section 121-A merely meant it as ancillary to Section 121. How could anyone be charged with treason without owing allegiance to Princes.

Sir Harry Haig: Will the Hon. Member explain the justification for Section 125?

Mr. Neogy: That is meant for the protection of certain Asiatic Powers in alliance.

Sir Harry Haig: Does the Member suggest that British Indians owe allegiance to Asiatic Powers?

Mr. Neogy: "No, that section creates a distinct offence."

Mr. Neogy held that legislation was not patchwork or scissors-and-paste work. He held that the Select Committee on Criminal Law Amendment Bill never made the recommendation which the Home Member had claimed that it had made. He next dealt with the provision regarding bringing of States' Administration into contempt, and said that there were States in India in whose case a mere statement of true facts would bring them into contempt. The publicity of such true facts would be condemned under the Bill.

WHAT IRWIN SAID.

He reminded the Government of the words of Lord Irwin that the best way for the States to fight scurrilous writings was to issue regular administration reports. That Viceroy did not suggest legislation of this character. As regards reciprocity, the question did not arise, as there was no Press of any kind in the Indian States from which the British Indian Government sought protection.

Concluding Mr. Neogy referred to the Home Member's remark that Federation could not be built on the basis of distrust. There must be understanding and community of interests. What the Home Member was trying to create was distrust where trust was coming, owing to the noble part played by some Princes in fighting a common battle for the motherland.

HISTORY TRACED.

Mr. Jog favoured the circulation of the Bill among the Princes to elicit their opinion, and in that light decide about the Legislation. Tracing the history, Mr. Jog said that a bill of a similar kind was discussed in the Assembly during the Home Membership of Sir William Vincent and was opposed summarily. Mr. Jog inquired whether the Bill was the result of the States taking the initiative or the Government of India's intervention.

Mr. Anwar-ul-Azim supported the Bill, and said that the provisions contained in the Bill did not justify so much opposition.

GAGGING OF PRESS.

Sir Cowasji Jehangir contended that the Bill went no further than placing an Indian State in the same footing as any other Oriental State. Proceeding Sir Cowasji, referred to the Press clauses and contended that the gagging of the Press would do considerable harm to States themselves. There was no doubt that the administration of certain States was very bad, and the Government knew it better than anybody else. It would serve no purpose to adopt a hush-hush policy in these matters, and try to place the Indian States on the same footing as British India. His opinion was that circulation would be most advisable. After circulation they would have considerable amount of material to judge how far the amendments of the Penal Code would serve their purpose.

HOME MEMBER'S ASSURANCE.

The Home Member said that he would consider the suggestion and give his answer to-morrow. But in his opinion the circulation would delay the progress of the Bill, as there was not sufficient time at the next Delhi Session again to discuss and send the Bill to a Select Committee. However, the Government were anxious that the Bill should be passed during the Delhi Session, and they were not prepared to delay till this time next year.

"DUTY TO HELP STATES."

Captain Sher Mohammad said that Indian States as a body stood behind British Government. They could not brush aside the contribution of Indian States towards constitutional reforms. It was their duty to help the States who were constantly threatened by mischievous propaganda from outside. Speaking from knowledge he felt that all troubles in Kashmir would have been avoided if a measure of this kind had been on the statute book.

At this stage the President gave a ruling on the point of order raised by Mr. Mody, whether Clause 3 amending Section 121-A was "ultra vires" of the Indian Legislature. The President said that the clause created a new offence, namely, conspiracy against the administration of States in India, but it did not extend either personal or territorial jurisdiction as defined in the Indian Penal Code which was within the competence of the Legislature, under Section 65 of the Government of India Act.

'ULTRA VIRES' OF LEGISLATURE.

The proposed section was, therefore, "ultra vires" of the Legislature, but in view of the fact that Sir Harry Haig had stated that the intention of Government was not to punish offences committed by British Indian subjects in Indian States, it was for the Select Committee to see whether the clause as it stood, would cause confusion and legal difficulties and whether it should be modified. The debate was resumed.

Mr. Harban Singh asked Government in how many cases Government had considered memorials from the subjects of Indian States. He supported the circulation of the Bill.

At this stage the House adjourned till to-morrow.—A. P.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—

WITHOUT CALOMEL

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Feeling Great

If you wake up in the morning feeling sour and depressed, entirely lacking in vim and vigour, don't swallow a lot of salts, mineral water, oil or harsh purgatives and expect them to make you suddenly sweet and buoyant and full of sunshine.

They can't do it. They only move the bowels and a mere movement doesn't get at the cause. The real reason for your run down feeling is your liver. It should pour out two pints of liquid bile into your bowels daily.

If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Your stomach is filled with gas. You have a thick, bad taste and your breath is foul, skin often breaks out in blemishes. Your head aches and you feel down and out. Your whole system is poisoned.

So it takes those good, old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get these two pints of bile flowing freely and make you feel "tip top". They contain wonderful, harmless, gentle vegetable extracts especially effective when it comes to making the bile flow freely.

But don't ask for liver pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Always look for the name Carter's Little Liver Pills on the Red Package label.

UDAY SHANKAR'S NEW PROGRAMME

To Be Repeated To-day & Tomorrow At Farewell Performances

Mr. Shankar will round off his season in Bombay with three more shows, on Saturday at 6 and 10 p.m. and on Sunday at 6 p.m. when he will present the same programme which he has put on since Thursday.

Some delightful items form part of the new programme. "The Peasant Dance," in which Shankar and Simkie depict the happy and care-free life of Indian farmers with gay and lively movements, evoked hearty applause from the audience on Thursday.

Another item which was greatly appreciated by the audience was "Yuddha Yatra," in which the entire company takes part, presenting an ensemble full of colour and heroic spirit in keeping with the theme—warriors going to battle with the blessings of their women-folk.

Kanak Lata, delicate as a rose-petal and fresh as the morning dew, danced in the "Gunga Puja" and again in the "Nautch Dance" a new number, in which she was partnered by Simkie. Other new items of the programme are Simkie's "Dance at the Festival of Ramchandra," and Shankar's dance of "Kam Deva" (God of Love) expressing, through rhythmic movements, his four attributes—love, pleasure, power and jealousy.

Some of the popular numbers from the old programme are also retained in the new one, like the "Indra Dance," the "Hunter Dance" and the "Tandava Nritya."

Shankar demonstrated his marvellous control of his body by rhythmic movements of the hands, feet, hip and hands, each part first treated separately and then in harmonious combination.

The "Yuddha Yatra" number was greeted on Thursday with an insistent demand for repetition. Mr. Shankar, addressing the audience said he did not mind repeating it four times even to please them, but the players were tired and they had to give another show the same night.

UNEMPLOYMENT & UNRETURNED LOVE

What Goaded Youth To Take Suicidal Dose Of Opium

Unemployment coupled with disappointment by the girl whom he loved are stated to be the reasons that led a Maratha to commit suicide by taking an overdose of opium on Tuesday evening. He was removed to the Hospital where he died later.

It appears that one Baboo Khanda, who was living at Byculla, was without employment for a long time. He was shocked when he heard recently that the girl whom he loved did not care for him at all. Getting desperate the youth is alleged to have written a letter to the Coroner of his intention to commit suicide for reasons of unemployment and broken love. He then took an overdose of opium and was lying unconclous. He was removed by the Poilie to the Hospital, where he died.

The Coroner's jury held an inquest over the body on Friday and returned a verdict of death due suicidal dose of opium.

BOY COLLAPSES ON OPERATION TABLE

Doctors' Injections Prove Futile

A Hindu boy, aged about seven, who was to have been operated upon for tonsils died on the operation table in the cunsulting Rooms of a Surgeon on Hornby Road on Thursday morning. The Coroner's Jury and the Police Surgeon, who examined the body were of opinion that the Doctors, who were in attendance did everything they could to bring back life to the boy but failed.

It appears that the boy Waman Narayan Modak, was taken by his father to Dr. Amesur's Consulting Rooms on Thursday morning to be operated upon for tonsils. Five Doctors, who were there examined the boy and pronounced him fit for operation. Anaesthetic was adminstered and after counting forty the boy was fit for operation but suddenly it was found that the boy was collapsing and the respiration had become shallow. The Doctors gave artificial respiration and injections to revive normal breathing but failed and the boy died after an hour.

The Coroner's Jury at the inquest held on Friday returned a verdict of death due to heart failure.

KALYAN TRAGEDY

Resident Magistrate's Peon Electrocuted

OVERHEAD WIRE SNAPS

But Two Girls Who Walk With Him Have Miraculous Escape.

Two Hindu girls, daughters of the Resident Magistrate, Kalyan, had a miraculous escape while the Resident Magistrate peon, who was walking along with the two girls was eltctrocuted and died in spite of the best efforts of a local doctor.

It appeared Babu, the peon, was going with the two daughters of the Resident Magistrate along Murbad Road, Kalyan, on Thursday, when suddenly an over head electric wire snapped and fell on Babu. The screams of Babu brought Dr.. Patel and the Sub Judge who resided close by to his assistance Dr. Patel gave three injections and tried artificial respiration but the unfortunate man died within two hours without regaining consciousness. The police are making enquiries as to how the wire snapped and Electrical Engineer to the Government has been sent for.

SECOND ATTEMPT TO KIDNAP GIRL

Hindu Woman And Her Accomplice Convicted

How a young Hindu girl was being kidnapped for the second time in the course of the last two years and a half, and was timely rescued by the vigilance of a policeman, was revealed in the case in which a Hindu married woman named Sunderbai Krishna and Kokaram Devi were convicted on Friday by the Fifth Presidency Magistrate, Dadar, on the charge of attempting to kidnap Sundarabai Devji, a minor orphan girl.

The story for the prosecution was that Sundarabai had but once before been kidnapped some 2-1|2 years ago by a Marwari named Bhairullal, who had her married to another Marwari for a sum of Rs. 1,200. As a result of this bargain Bhairu was tried and convicted in the Mazagaon Court, and the girl was sent first to the Children's Home at Umerkhadi and thence to Sraddhanand Anatha Ashram at Naigaum on May 4 last. The Ashram authorities were regularly sending her to the Municipal School, Dadar.

PLOT TO ABDUCT.

In the present case a plot is alleged to have been hatched by the second accused in conjunction with the first to kidnap Sunderabai. The first accused had come down with her father to Bombay after being newly married, and her younger sister was a class-mate of Sunderabai's. As Sunderabai and the first accused's sister contracted friendship with each other the latter soon learnt that the former was a poor orphan girl. This fact, reaching the ears of the first accused, was in turn conveyed to the second accused, who taking advantage of the helpless position of Sunderabai set up a plot to abduct the girl probably with a view to marry her against her will.

A letter was therefore written to the girl by the first accused conveying compliments from her parents apparentlly to give her the impression that they took great interest in her. On June 21 the first accused actually went to Sunderabai's school during the afternoon recess and gave her an eatable called 'bhel." Subsequently the accused came again and took away Sunderabai to the house of the second accused who was staying in the compound of the first. On the instructions of the second accused the first took the girl to the tram terminus. As the second accused failed to turn up there they returned to the house and Sunderabai was again taken to the tram terminus. Subsequently joined by accused No. 2, the party then proceeded by tram to the Bombay Central Station and boarded the train at 10-30 night.

CONSTABLE'S SUSPICION.

As the train drew up at Bulsar Station a constable getting suspicious about the peculiar behaviour of the accused entered their compartment and asking them to get down placed them before a police officer. On a search being made three railway tickets were recovered from the second accused—two for Ahmedabad and one for Dadar as also an excess-fare receipt upon the Dadar tivket which was paid by accused No. 2 at some intermediate station. Both the accused were then brought down to Bombay and placed before the trying magistrate.

DEFENCE STORY DISBELIEVED.

Though both the accused pleadnot not guilty to the charges under Sections 363 and 114 I.P.C. the Magistrate disbelieved their defence stories and convicted and sentenced the first accused to a day's simple imprisonment and to pay a fine of Rs. 100 in default to suffer two months' rigorous imprisonment. Holding that the second accused was the main plotter, the Magistrate awarded him nine months' rigorous imprisonment.

Messrs. Parelkar and Gadkari appeared for the first and second accused while the prosecution was conducted by the Police Prosecutor Mr. Velkar.

Lucknow.—News of a dacoity has been received here from Barabanki.

It is reported that members of the postal staff, while carrying the day's proceeds of Post Office to the Treasury were surprised on Thursday by a number of armed dacoits, who fell upon them, grabbed the cash box and made good their escape.—A. P.

INTER-COMMUNAL MARRIAGE

Knotty Point Arising From Christian Lady's Two Marriages

A knotty problem arising from an inter-communal marriage came up for decision before the Chief Justice at the High Court, when hearing the petition of Mrs. Jessie G. Khambhatta, who sued for divorce from the respondent Muncherji C. Khambhatta.

A preliminary point was raised by the respondent. He contended that at the date of his marriage with the petitioner which was on April 24, 1923, the petitioner was already married to another man, and, therefore, her marriage with the respondent could not be dissolved, from a legal point of view.

The petitioner, who was a Scotch national, married one Gulam Ebrahim by civil marriage in Scotland, according to Scottish Law. The latter was a Mahomedan domiciled in British India. The petitioner later embraced her husband's religion, and they both came and lived in India. In June 1922, Gulam Ebrahim terminated the marriage by giving "talaque" to the petitioner according to Mahomedan Law. A few months before her marriage with the respondent, the petitioner obtained a declaration from the District Court of Secunderabad that she was no longer married to Gulam Ebrahim

FIRST MARRIAGE DISSOLVED.

On the preliminary point raised by the respondent, it was argued by Mr. Cordon Noad, counsel for the petitioner, that the declaration from the Secunderabad Court operated as a judgment "in rem," and decided that the petitioner was no longer the wife of Gulam Ebrahim.

"LEX DOMICILI."

It was further contended that the dissolution of her marriage with Gulam Ebrahim was governed by the "lex domicili" i.e. the law of domicile of the parties, which was Mahomedan law, according to which the husband could validly dissolve his marriage by giving his wife a "talaque."

For the respondent, it was argued by his counsel, Mr. G. C. O'Gorman, that the petitioner's marriage with Gulam Ebrahim having been solemnized in Scotland, its dissolution was also governed by Scottish law, which did not recognise termination of marriage by a "talaque."

JUDGMENT.

His Lordship, in his judgment, pointed out that in the realm of private international law, it was established that the forms to constitute a valid marriage depended on the "lex loci contractus" i.e. the law of the place where the marriage was contracted; and that on her marriage, the wife automatically acquired the domicile of her husband, and their rights and obligations were governed by "lex domicili" (the law of the place in which they were domiciled).

After enunciating these general principles, his Lordship dealt with the facts of this case. The petitioner had embraced the Mahomedan faith, and the parties were domiciled in British India and were subject to Mahomedan law which entitled the husband to divorce his wife by a 'talaque.'

His Lordship held that the petitioner's marriage with Gulam Ebrahim was legally dissolved when the latter gave her a "talaque' before her second marriage with the respondent. The preliminary objection of the respondent, therefore, could not stand.

THE BOMBAY CHRONICLE

SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 9, 1933

DEATH-KNELL OF SWARAJ

Sir Harry Haig's speech in the Assembly sponsoring the Princes Protection Bill contained the most damaging admissions about the state of things obtaining in the Indian States, but he pleaded for toleration and asked that the Princes should not even be criticised, on the ground that they gave similar protection to the Indian Government. There might be in some States, said the Home Member, conditions which might be called "scandalous or intolerable, but the paramount power was there to deal with such a situation!" The obvious meaning of all this twaddle is that, whatever may be the conditions in Indian States, whatever may the atrocities taking place in them, they ought not to be criticised, because the Princes with their despotic powers are so subservient and obliging as to prevent any criticism of the British Government in their own States.

INTOLERABLE POSITION

That is a position which is intolerable, and the attempt to justify it is an impertinence. The new Bill is to carry that object further and put a stop to all strictures against any Indian State. We do not believe for a moment that anybody in India wants Federation on these monstrous terms. It is reasonable that hostile Jathas should not be allowed to march into Indian States for committing any violence, or even to bolster up agitation against the ruler. But in these matters it is the Government of India that has been chiefly to blame by their failure to scotch such activities. The significant thing, however, is that in all these cases the Paramount Power had to intervene as a result of agitation in the press in British Indai.

The claim that these are purely domestic matters between the Princes and the Paramount to be settled privately, when thousands of Indian State subjects are concerned is preposterous. The Princes cannot be allowed to come into a federation with British Indian provinces on such terms. Federation, if it comes, must be an insurance for the rights and liberties of the State subjects, not a guarantee of princely autocracy and privilege.

EXTRAVAGANT DESPOTS

It is notorious that there is not the slightest semblance of personal freedom, freedom of speech and association in the Indian States, and most of the Princes are extravagant despots. They cannot tolerate the slightest criticism against themselves, with the result that most of the States are on the verge of bankruptcy. Yet, we are told that the Paramount Power is there! If the Paramount Power had not winked at these things, and had taken its responsibility more seriously, there would not have been all the present agitation that we see in many of the Indian Sates. Now in the name of Federation, the Government of India want to worsen the conditions in the States and banish all liberty, or whatever there was of it, from the States for ever!

If the Princes require to be protected with the help of Ordinances, then we must frankly say that the sooner they disappear the better not only for Indians, but for all humanity. Only the purblind can believe for a single moment that the Princes will be able to carry on the present conditions indefinitely. Princes who visit Europe every now and then cannot, surely, be oblivious of the happenings there.

BAN ON "THE CHRONICLE"

The action taken against the "Chronicle" by the Nizam's Government provides a striking example of sheer perversion and intolerance on the part of a State Government. As soon as Sir Akbar Hydari reached Hyderabad the "Chronicle" was banned, clearly on account of the criticism levelled against him and the present administration in that State. As far as we are aware, there was nothing unfair or unjust or improper in the comments that were made against the way the State is run at the present moment. There was no undue straining of the right of public criticism. Adverse comment was no doubt made on the costliness of the administration and the huge amounts spent on so many British "experts" who are displacing the "Mulkis" as they are called. But such mild disapproval is not palatable to Sir Akbar Hydari and the paper has been banned.

If Federation is to be purchased at the price of the liberty of the States subjects and also of the British Indian Press, the country is fully justified in its opposition to the White Paper. The White Paper, instead of giving freedom to the people, will restrict whatever small rights they now possess. Once the Princes become joint rulers of India, with the British, and begin to interfere in Indian affairs, that day Indians will have to bid goodbye to all freedom, and the death-knell of Swaraj will be sounded. We hope Sir Tej Bahadur Sapru and the other protagonists of Federation, who accepted the proposition so recklessly when it was first mooted, enjoy the contemplation of their handiwork now that it is coming to fruition.

Privileges For Ever ?

It was even more easy for the Legislative Assembly to adopt the resolution in support of landlords' proprietary rights than to pass the Cotton Protection Bill. Under the present franchise the Assembly may be safely trusted to safeguard—that is so far as that body can—all the privileges, however questionable, of the so-called "large-stake-holders." Even Mr. N. M. Joshi, who expressed some Socialistic views, refrained finally from voting against the motion.

Mr. Brijkishore's resolution appears at the first blush to be quite innocent, as it only stated that a special provision should be incorporated in the new constitution that the proprietory rights of any citizen in lands should not be taken away for any reason whatsoever without the payment of adequate compensation. But why should rights in land only be specially protected? And what is the significance of the words "for any reason whatsoever?" It is an open secret that what is really intended is that the privileges of zamindars should be made proof against all changes for all time in the future.

If other forms of property may be controlled by the State in the interests of the people, there is no reason why land alone should be an exception to the rule. Indeed, many jurists hold that in India land has for ages belonged and even now belongs primarily to the State, the latter transferring some of its rights to individuals from time to time for special reasons.

Does the Assembly seriously suggest that, if a zamindar is found guilty of treason to the State his rights in lands should not be in the least curtailed for any reason whatsoever without adequate compensation? However, the Assembly resolution was quite a superfluous reminder to the Joint Committee or the British Government. Those bodies in their own interests will do everything that is possible to bolster up the position of the large stake-holders against the gathering forces of democracy. But no paper safeguards can for ever protect unnatural and anti-social privileges. The landlords can safeguard their legitimate interests only by winning the goodwill of their tenants.

Reorganise The Movement

The poor sales of Khaddar during the last few days of the Swadeshi Festival in the City only confirm the belief, induced by reports from various other places, that the Khaddar movement has suffered a serious setback. It is true that since 1930 the Swadeshi movement has, on the whole, made much progress. But the very success of Swadeshi mill cloth has to some extent affected the popularity of Khaddar. It is difficult for the latter to compete with the former in these days of decreasing purchasing power.

Moreover, in 1930, and more so in 1932, Khaddar organisation failed to receive the attention it needed. Most Khaddar organisers were Congressmen and injudiciously allowed themselves to be hustled into the Civil Disobedience movement. They fondly believed that in the white-heat enthusiasm of the time their places would be easily filled by new men and that somehow the Khaddar movement would be self-regulated. But organising Khaddar work is a great deal harder than making salt and needs much experience to be successful. Thus the places of Khaddar workers in jail have not been filled by a sufficient number of experienced new men. In various ways, therefore, the Khaddar movement has recently suffered considerably.

Yet the need for promoting the movement is much greater now than it ever was before. Unemployment is increasing on an appalling scale and Khaddar is the only supplementary industry that can bring some relief to a large number of people. It is much to be wished, therefore, that Gandhiji should make one more effort to reorganise the industry with the help of such workers as are or will soon be out of jail. Hereafter, at least, these workers may refrain from entangling themselves in the individual Civil Disobedience movement. It is no use asking the people to work a comprehensive constructive programme if the organisation that is essential for its working is allowed to be crippled in various ways.

A Ring Fence

It is stated that the States' Protection Bill is devised with the general object of giving protection to the States because "the forthcoming constitutional changes make it desirable that the authorities in British India should have the power to protect the units of the federation from agitation directed against them from British India." We are not in a position to say whether the desire for giving protection came from the Princes, or the Paramount Power, which is making a generous gift of it in advance as a prophylactic against democratic influences from British India in the new constitution. The present Bill tries to set up a ring fence round the States which tends to perpetuate mediaeval anachronisms and tyrannies in them.—"Hitawada."

Illogical Conclusion

It is both right and natural that the assassination of the District Magistrate of Midnapur should be condemned as strongly in the British as in the Indian Press, but we confess we see neither sense nor relevancy in the statement of certain British journals, notably the "Daily Mail," and the the "Morning Post," that it is a conclusive argument against the transfer of law and order, at least in Bengal. The crime has been perpetrated not under a Swaraj Government, but while the bureaucracy has still exclusive and undisputed responsibility for the maintenance of law and order. If, therefore, it proves anything at all, it proves not the unfitness of India to maintain law and order, but the unfitness of those who are at present in charge of law and order.—"Tribune."

Wanted Wide Programme

Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru has not lost much time in giving his opinion on the situation that has developed since he went to jail. Naturally enough he discounts the White Paper constitution as wholly bad, without any relieving feature, in opposing which the country need have no qualms. The real work of the future lies outside the orbit of that constitution.

There seems to be a serious difference between Pt. Jawaharlal and many other national leaders in the nature of that work. He is reported to have said that he did not attach much importance to Swadeshi and anti-untouchability work. The main problem of India, in his opinion, is economic. The economic regeneration of the Indian masses is certainly as important as if not more so than any other item of the national programme. But that is no reason why the other items should be sacrificed for its sake. —"National Call."

"MULKIS" COMING INTO THEIR OWN

A HEALTHY MOVEMENT IN HYDERABAD

By "SCRUTATOR."

The term "Mulki", in Hyderabad, means real Hyderabadis, as apart from those who have come down here from British India to earn a living.

Nearly seventy years ago, when Sir Salaar Jung undertook the onerous task of reforming the administration of this State, he found that there were not enough Hyderabadis to fill all responsible posts. He, therefore, engaged a few hands from Northern India, some of whom, it is said, did very useful work here and served their master loyally. The same may be said of some British Officers whose services had to be accepted by the Nizam's Government for one reason or another.

LOCAL TALENT IGNORED.

What these alien officers failed to do was that they did not train their local assistants to fill their places after the expiry of the period for which their services had been briefed.

Not merely that, but they even imported their own kith and kin in various responsible positions with the result that local talent found itself submerged beneath the ever-rising tides of foreign "invasion".

Is it any wonder than that Hyderabad politics have been in such an awful mess? What sympathy or support could the Nizam expect from them, when the interests of his State come in conflict with those of British India? History is replete with instances when the economic and political interests of Hyderabad have been sacrificed by those at the helm of affairs for a mere mess of pottage.

Besides, engaging outside hands means sending out good money from Hyderabad, in the shape of salaries, pensions and "home-remittances", in return for doubtful services. It denies opportunities to local persons to serve their country, it infuses an inferiority complex in them and leads them into ways which are hardly edifying.

BANE OF ADMINISTRATION.

If ever there was any justification in the past to entertain alien hands, it can be said with the greatest confidence that none exists at present. There are several Hyderabadis to-day, in the medium grade of services, who would put to shame many a provincial minister in British India and I say this from personal experience. They are not allowed to rise here just because they are 'Mulkis', even though they are highly qualified otherwise. There are several young civilians, young officers with European qualifications, highly experienced and trained 'Mulkis', who are working as assistants in the various departments. Given opportunities, they can shine as heads of departments, but vested interests will never let them. That is the bane of Hyderabad administration.

QUESTION OF PRINCIPLE.

This is not a question of mere loaves and fishes. The point is, not whether X should be the head, for instance, of the Educa-

Frankly Speaking

RESPONSIBLE FOR THE WAR.

Lord Grey whose death has just occurred was a survival of Whiggism and also the last of its offspring, known as Liberal Imperialists.

He was tremendously boosted as a strong statesman with an iron will to dominate the chancelleries of Europe. But, in fact, as British Foreign Secretary, he simply drifted with the tide that landed everybody in the cataclysm of 1914.

His incapacity to act with decision, firmness and strength was never so tragically exposed as when, instead of telling Germany the brutal truth that Britain was pledged to and would fight with France, he made a compromising declaration which encouraged the Germans to count on British neutrality.

Nobody had a heavier responsibility for the conflagration which immediately burst on Europe than this boosted "strong and straight" Foreign Minister, who was neither strong nor straight.

It was well that he went soon after into retirement and was given no further opportunity to make fuel for fresh conflagrations.

THE SILVER RAMP.

The explanation given by Mr. Taylor, the Financial Secretary, in the Council of State in reply to Mr. Mehrotra's demand for the publication of the correspondence regarding the sale of silver to Britain is, to say the least, very disingenuous.

If the whole transaction is above board, as the Financial Secretary avers, there can be no harm in the publication of all correspondence relevant to the subject.

India lost over a crore in the transaction, according to the mover of the resolution, and the public are entitled to know why India's interests were sacrificed.

Britain made a huge profit by the sale at the cost of India, and it is essential that the British Government should establish their 'bona fides,' as one of the members said.

In their own interests Government should try and clear up this matter.

THEY SEE THROUGH IT.

It is characteristic of the British vested interests in Burma to presume to know more about the country's needs than its own people.

Sir George Buchanan, who was for several years the Chairman of the Rangoon Port Trust, and whose name is painfully associated with the Back Bay fiasco, is reported to have declared in an address to the British Association that Burma had everything to gain by separation and that, having suffered for years from domination by India the people had acquired "an inferiority complex".

The people of Burma know well enough who has been dominating and exploiting them. That is why they have summarily rejected the Premier's bait of a constitution on the basis of separation.

It is not difficult for them to understand why almost all Britishers wish to isolate Burma from India.

UNTOUCHABLE.

The Industries and Agricultural Department of the Bengal Government, which sent exhibits for display at the Swadeshi Exhibition at Calcutta, has betrayed unseemly prejudice in withdrawing all its exhibits merely because the National Flag was hoisted over the Exhibition Pandal.

The Exhibition authorities did well to let the officials withdraw rather than accept their dictation.

This non-co-operating attitude is evidently a hint to all Government servants and aided institutions that the Government regard the National Flag as something untouchable, which should in no way be countenanced by loyal people.

But the public in general have a saner sense of loyalty. They think of the nation first and foremost and honour the Flag as a symbol of the nation's integrity and determination to be free.

COUNCIL OF STATE POLITICS.

Mr. Mehrotra's resolution for the release of politicals in Indian jails was bound to meet with rejection by the Government on the ground that the Civil Disobedience movement had not yet been called off.

For that the Government themselves are to blame, for they have refused to see Mahatma Gandhi over and over again.

The Government have repeatedly said that the C.D. movement was dead. Why do they persist then in keeping thousands of prisoners in jails for mere technical offences?

Sir N. Choksey's opposition was to be expected, for his politics are notorious, though he is not taken seriously by anybody.

Is he really so enamoured of foreign cloth that he is against boycott and picketing and has he no feeling either for his friends, the Indian millowners, or for the masses who want a subsidiary industry when they are not occupied with agriculture?

G. S. M. COLLEGE SCANDAL

From "Justice"

It is rather sad that things are moving so uncomfortably slowly regarding the victimised student's affair. Appeal after appeal has appeared in the paper on behalf of the innocent youth, but still without any response from the City Fathers, who are supposed to be the custodians of the citizens.

What really is the cause of this apathy on the part of the City Fathers, one fails to understand. Is it the personality and the influence of the Ag. Dean? Or, is it the idea that the life and career of a young man is not worth much? I would appeal to these City Fathers to put themselves in the position of the victimised student's father. Only then will they realise what agony the poor student must be undergoing, when he is so relentlessly cut off at the end of his College career for reasons which would not stand scrutiny.

Would it not be pertinent, if one were to ask, how would the Ag. Dean feel if the Corporation were to turn him out of the Dean's chair on the pretext of having received information against him, without giving him a chance to defend himself?

It seems the student in question has now appealed to the President, and the President has promised to put it before the Medical Relief Committee. The M. R. C. will, probably, ask the Commissioner to report about the case. The report will be submitted in its own time. The M. R. C. will then leisurely decide about the question. This decision will probably be taken up next by the Corporation. Then, what next? God alone knows!

Everything sounds quite constitutional. But, it is a ludicrously long process when the question of the future of a young man is involved, and evidently, too trying for him, who is labouring under a sense of gross injustice. In these circumstances, is it not possible to have quicker methods of decision? The student has lost one term. By the time the Corporation decides, he will have lost another.

Is this not a matter which should draw the attention of the Corporation?

"Poorly Paid Nurses ?"

From "A Well-Wisher."

In your valued paper of the 30th August, I happened to come across a letter from a 'B.P.N.A.' with the heading "Poorly Paid Nurses".

Surely, this country is in need of a large body of trained nurses and in fact all the hospitals are trying their best to train as many candidates as possible. Still, it is very difficult to get proper clastes for training and when they are trained and have passed after 3 or3½ years their demand goes so high that I am really surprised to read your correspondent say that nurses are poorly paid.

If in any branches of the employment there is any job well paid, I consider it to be that of a Nurse's. When you review the whole of their career, you will find that their general education is not above V or VI Standard English, when they are recruited as probationery nurses. These probationers are given free boarding, lodging, uniform, free washing and Rs. 10/ to Rs. 25/ for pocket expenses per month. In the three years' course, the hospital has got to give them free education, i.e. lectures in all the subjects they have to appear. They are also given in the Hospital a day off every week besides 30 days casual and priviledge leave in a year. After three or 3½ years' course, when they have passed and qualified, their demand is anything from Rs. 80/ to Rs. 100/ or Rs. 45/ to Rs. 50/ per month with free boarding, lodging, uniform, free washing, etc., which necessarily must come to more than Rs. 30/. This is immediately they pass without any experience; and after they have worked for few years, their demand goes higher.

I am really surprised to read that your correspondent is satisfied with Rs. 60 only, without free boarding, lodging, uniform, etc. I do not think any nurse will work for this pay.

Now compare their position with a young man who has passed his Matriculation of any University. He hardly can get even Rs. 30 or Rs. 40 if he is lucky enough to get a job. There are hundreds of them unemployed. But are there any qualified nurses unemployed? And, if there are any, it is because they want a fat salary—anything from Rs. 150/ to Rs. 200/, and everything found.

Now, can anybody think that they are very poorly paid and nurse's job is in any way inferior to any other job?

WASTED PROPAGANDA

From Jamiat Singh.

When I was a school boy, a temperance preacher came to Rawalpindi and a big meeting was held in the public gardens. The speakers instead of addressing the men, not to drink, was all the while addressing the ladies present in the meeting about the evils of drink. A lady was so much enraged over this action of the speaker that she got up and told him to address the men about the subject, as ladies were all testotallers.

The same thing I find with the present Swadeshi propaganda going on in Bombay. The whole thing is like the proverb of carrying coals to Newcastle. May I know, what is the benefit of holding meetings about Swadeshi in the Swadeshi market itself and other similar places which are the strongholds of Swadeshi?

What strikes me most is the total absence of any meetings in the Mahomedan localities and Mill areas. Is the Swadeshi propaganda meant for middle class Hindus and Parsis only? To all those persons who work in the interest of the nation, I would request to go about in the localities untouched as yet with the spirit of nationalism, where the need of such meetings and propaganda is the greatest.

I can assure the Swadeshi workers that the heart of the people living in these areas is sound and they would willingly listen to hear them if properly approached. It is no use pointing fingers at the people not using Swadeshi, when the very message of Swadeshi is denied to them and I would suggest the Swadeshi League workers to come out with a bold programme as suits these localities and their efforts will not be fruitless.

What Next ?

From "A Callow Youth."

Now that Jawaharlal is coming down to Poona to hold political discussions with Gandhiji, what should we clamour for? We must demand complete withdrawal of mass civil disobedience as well as individual civil disobedience movement as the country is in political stagnation. The Congress organisation should be made alive first and thus the nation be taken in confidence by Gandhiji and Pandit Jawaharlal. Of course, the civil disobedience movement will not be abandoned except on the decision of the Working Committee of the A. I. C. C., which should be held in Bombay earliest by the 21st Inst. to give a lead to the country out of this political chaos.

What must be the attitude of the Government of India towards Congress leaders—Indian leaders—nay India? It should be one of wise agreement, neither parties being offended in its conclusions.

Mahatmaji searches for peace, people strive for peace, Government of India also hanker after peace. But how is it to be attained? It can only be done by mutual open heart confabulations by Mahatmaji asking for an interview and Government accepting his ocer, considering civil disobedience movement as dead and gone.

The Government of India should not lose this chance for by so doing they will get a helping hand of the greatest political party of India in the deliberations of the Joint Select Committee which is to commence its work in next month.

It is never too late for the Government of India to think and act.

Travancore Temple Entry

From "A Travancore Caste Hindu"

As H. H. The Maharajah of Travancore had only too short a stay here which was scarcely enough for his rest, probably the deputation suggested through the columns of your paper got no opportunity. The next best thing to do is to submit as early as possible a memorial signed by the Travancore Caste Hindu residents in Bombay, appealing to His Highness to throw open all temples in the State to the so called untouchables. It cannot be gainsaid that this will not have its effect.

What is required immediately for the purpose is to convene a meeting of the Travancore Caste Hindu residents in Bombay, where, I am confident, the proposition will be unanimously carried. This done, the rest will be carried out by a Committee that may be appointed.

Will those responsible please move in the direction?

COLOURLESS AMERICAN BUREAU REPORT

Prices Fluctuate Within A Narrow Range Owing To Crop Estimates Being Near To General Expectation

Bombay, Sept. 8.

The U. S. A. Agriculture Bureau Report issued to-day, estimates American cotton crop at 124,14,000 bales. The total ginning is 13,94,000 bales upto September 1.

The condition of the crop is 67.5, and the yield per acre is estimated at 197.8lbs.

Last month the crop was estimated at 123,14,000: ginning 171,000; the condition 74.2; and yield 198.4.

To-day's report is, as generally expected, and failed to administer any important change in prices. The general opinion about the prospective supply will now be crystallised.

The market will be influenced by hedge-selling and inflationary programme of Washington Administration, of which there are no signs in the near future.

The New York Cotton Market opened at a decline of 1 point, and before the receipt of the Bureau Report prices were quoted 6 points lower. After the Bureau Report prices were quoted 6 to 7 points lower but later improved and were quoted 7 points higher.

In the local Cotton Market Broach April-May delivery fluctuated within a narrow range of Rs. 2, the lowest being Rs. 193-8 and the highest Rs. 195-12.

MODERATELY ACTIVE TRADING IN N. Y.

General Trend Of Prices Unaffected

NEW YORK, Sept. 8.

The New York Cotton Market ruled quietly steady in the moderately active trading. Even the publication of the Bureau figures affected but little the general trend of prices.

The American Bureau estimates total production at 12,414,000 bales, which was about the figure expected, while the estimate of cotton ginned prior to September 1, is given as 1,394,000 bales.

However, the better feeling in evidence was probably due to the reports of unfavourable weather on account of the heavy showers of rain in Texas, and steadiness in the Stock Exchange Market.

The session opened with October at 9.00, i.e. one point lower, and remained quiet and narrow. However, after the issue of the Government report, the market steadied somewhat to 9.06, due to covering by shorts, and trade buying at this level trading again became quiet.

LIVERPOOL WHEAT.

Liverpool wheat opened easy at 61—7|8, 63—7|8 and 66—1|8, about 5|8d. lower. Business was at a standstill due to the disappointing foreign advices.

LONDON STOCK EXCHANGE.

The London Stock Exchange Market continued in doldrums, especially due to the approaching of the settlement day.

The gilt-edged securities were somewhat active. Three and a half per cent. Indian Sterling Loan was quoted at £85, unchanged from the previous day's closing.

London Exchanges opened with the Sterling-Dollar rate at 4.54-3|4 and for some time hovered around 4.54-7.8, but eventually broke away, declining to 4.52-1|2.

The Franc opened at 80.56 with quiet tendency, but during the subsequent portion of the session the rate began to appreciate, touching at 80.81.

The local Silver and Gold Markets were closed.—Reuter.

KING FEISAL OF IRAQ DIES OF HEART ATTACK

Proclaimed King Of Iraq As Result Of Plebiscite

VISIT TO ENGLAND

Treaty Resulting In Admission Of Iraq Into League.

BERNE (Switzerland) Sept. 8.

King Feisal of Iraq died this morning in his hotel here at 3 a.m. from a heart attack.

The late Emir Feisul King of Iraq, was the third son of the Sheriff Hussein of Mecca, who was the Viceroy of Mecca and Medina under the Turks. When Turkey declared war against the Allies, he sided with the latter.

After the war, Emir Feisal occupied Damascus with his troops and declared himself the King. But disillusion came soon, for the French drove him out of that ancient city, and he was again a king without a throne.

The British, however, did not like to give up their protege and they gave Irak to him as a sop for his disappointment. His brother was offered Trans-Jordania. On August 23, 1921, the British High Commissioner proclaimed him Faisal King of Iraq by "election of the people," as the result of a plebiscite, in which 96 per cent of the inhabitants of the country voted in his favour.

On October 11, 1922, the British entered into an agreement with the Iraq Government under which the latter was to become a member of the League of Nations by 1928 at the latest. On December 14 1927 a fresh treaty was signed between Great Britain and Iraq by which the former undertook to assure the admission of Iraq into the League. The League formally admitted Iraq as a member a couple of years ago.

King Feisul visited England more than once. He paid a visit to Englaend only a couple of months ago and was given address by the City of London. He remained there for some days, but he had to leave the country on account of the incursion of Assyrians into Iraq, when a large number of them were killed.

It was stated that the visit of Feisul was due to his desire to float a loan in London.

MINISTER'S RUDE AWAKENING AT NIGHT.

LONDON, Sept. 8.

A trunk call from Berne which awakened the Iraqi Minister in London in the middle of night dramatically conveyed the first intimation of the totally unexpected death of King Feisal. The king was a familiar figure here as only recently he had spent three weeks in England and Scotland, when he received all honours paid to a reigning sovereign, and stayed at Buckingham Palace. His remains will be embalmed, and by arrangement with the British Government will be sent to Iraq for burial by a British warship, leaving probably on 10th September.—Reuter.

(EARLIER.)

King Feisal lunched at Interlaken yesterday, but complained of tiredness, last evening.

A doctor was summoned, and he was satisfied with his patient's condition until midnight when King Feisal suddenly worsened.

The King was already very ill when he left Baghdad at the end of August to resume his health cure in Switzerland, interrupted by the Assyrian revolt, doctors insisting that he should be spared the heat of the Iraq summer.—Reuter.

FUNERAL TO TAKE PLACE AT BAGHDAD

LONDON, Sept. 8.

The embalmed remains of King Feisal will be conveyed from Brindisi by a British cruiser to Haifa on the 10th September. Thereafter the R.A.F. machines will take the body to Jerusalem for the religious service, and from there, the aeroplanes will proceed to Baghdad for funeral.

The new King of Iraq was educated for three years at Harrow. He is even more European in tastes and ideas than his father.

The King-Emperor has sent a message of condolence to the new King.—Reuter.

STABBED HIS OWN FATHER ?

Son, Who Police Allege Is Deranged In Mind, Remanded

A strange case, in which the father figures as complainant against his son who, it is alleged in a fit of insanity had stabbed him, came up before the Fifth Presidency Magistrate, Dadar, on Friday.

The Delisle Road Police, in applying for the remand of the accused, Sitaram Raghoji, stated that he was deranged in mind for about a year. Lately he took into his head that his father was on terms of intimacy with his (Complainant's) stepmother who had left the accused and was staying at Kumbharwada. The accused and the complainant, though living together, were on this account on inimical terms with each other.

At about 9 p.m., on Thursday, when the father of the accused returned home, the accused suddenly rushed at him and whipping out a pen-knife stabbed him in the shoulder. He then ran into his own room, and locked himself up. The father who had fallen in a swoon was picked up and removed to the hospital by the police, who came on the scene subsequently. The accused was also arrested at the same time.

The Magistrate remanded the accused in custody untill the 11th instant as the police wanted time to complete their inquiries in the case.

Sylvia Sidney Scores In Madame Butterfly

Wonderful Scenes Of Cherry Blossom Land To Redeem A Woefully Sad Story

In the temple of Daibutsu, the great Buddha, kneel a strange trio. An old man. A middle-aged woman. A young, beautiful girl.

Prays the old man: "Guide this daughter of my son on the path she is about to take." Prays the middle-aged woman: "Give this daughter of mine thy protection." Prays the girl: "Make it possible for me to be of assistance to my illustrious family."

And so the grandfather and the mother take young Cho-Cho-San to Goro's geisha house, where Goro himself, humble in the presence of these aristocrats, expresses himself as delighted with the girl's beauty. He is certain, he says, bowing, that he can arrange a marriage for her with a rich client. Such is the manner in which the family fortune, sunk to low estate, will be repaired.

Then, to cut a long story short, —it's a short story really but the film has made it a long one—in steps Lieutenant Pinherton of the U. S. A. Navy, on the very first night of her arrival in the geisha house. And they fall for one another. And no wonder! Sylvia Sidney as a Geisha anyone would fall for. And Gary Cooper in his smart white naval uniform is the "real goods" in youthful masculine attraction. Follows a marriage, in Geisha fashion, and a honeymoon in a toylike Japanese villa with cherry blossom and all the other Japanese attractions. Cho-Cho-San thinks it's "for keeps" and Pinkerton lets her think so. Even when he goes away with the fleet he promises to come back; and so she waits for him through dreary years with a baby that is, fortunately for his future, more Japanese in appearance than American—a precocious infant this, with uncanny dramatic talent.

In the end Pinkerton comes back—with an American wife.

So Cho-Cho-San's dream ends and, after sending the infant to his grandparents to be reared as a true son of the Samurai, Cho-Cho-San commits "hara-kari" like a true daughter of the Samurai, with the traditional dagger.

Some people will love this film, especially those who like to be sent home in a state of gloom, wondering how a really nice-looking American youth can behave in such a dirty way. But the attraction of the film is its delightful setting and fascinating photography. It makes one long for the land of the cherry blossom—and the Geisha too. The little bit of America that gets thrown in is horribly vulgar by contrast. Certainly for its scenery the film is worth seeing and Sylvia Sidney's performance of the role of Cho-Cho-San is a triumph.

The music on the other hand is a bad effort in patch-work. Excepts from Puccini consort grotesquely with the conventional stuff that has been specially composed for the picture.

IT ALL HAPPENED IN COUPLE OF MINUTES

POONA, Sept. 8.

The Council was debating the Live Stock Improvement Bill when shortly before 3, Mr. J. S. Kadri who was listening to the debate heaved deeply and fainted on the members sitting by his side.

Dr. Solanki, the only medical member present in the Council Hall rushed to his help, but before he could render medical assistance Mr. Kadri collapsed.

Everything happened in a couple of minutes.

Dr. Coyaji, a well-known private medical practitioner and, later, Col. Candy, Civil Surgeon, examined Mr Kadri in the Council Hall itself, and pronounced that life was extinct.

The dead body was removed in an ambulance.

The Council reassembled and the President after making a brief reference to Mr. Kadri's sudden death in harness, adjourned the House.—A. P.

tional Department or Y. The point to be decided is whether a non-Hyderabadee can be as deeply interested in the education and uplift of Hyderabad youths as a Hyderabadee would naturally be. The same question may be asked of other branches of administration.

THE NIZAM'S FIRMAN.

In the year of grace 1933, it can never even be suggested that there are not enough Hyderabadis to fill all responsible posts. In fact, we can spare some for British India. If, perchance, we have not amongst us, a sericulturist, for instance, what Government must do is to engage a foreigner temporarily and in the meantime train one of our own young men for the purpose.

That is the spirit of the recent "Firman" of His Exalted Highness, which has been received with great enthusiasm all over the State. The question is: Will Government pay any heed to it?

LABOUR IN FACTORIES

Introducing Desirable Reforms As Shewn By Experience

SIMLA, Sept. 8.

The third of the Government Bill to-day in the Legislative Assembly was a bill introduced by Sir Frank Noyce to consolidate and amend the law regulating Labour in factories.

The statement of objects and reasons says:—

"The Royal Commission on Labour made a number of recommendations for amendment of the Factories' Act. These were published with their report in July, 1931. After examining these in detail the Government of India drafted a bill to replace the present Factories' Act which embodied a great majority of proposals and included some further alterations that experience hal shown to be desirable. The present Act dates from 1911, but since that date large changes have been made by amending Acts and consolidating of the law in clearer and more logical form is in itself a desirable reform."

60-HOUR WEEK.

The Bill differs in no vital respect from draft Bill published by the Government India over a year ago, and it follows generally the Whitley Commission's recommendations. In respect of hours the Government of India had followed the general lines suggested by majority of the Commission. It is proposed to retain the sixty-hour week for seasonal factories and to reduce the limit for the bulk of non-seasonal factories to fifty-four hour. But continuous process factories are to be allowed regular 58-hour week. The daily limit of hours of non-seasonal factories is fixed at ten instead of eleven in the Present Act and it is proposed to make a similar reduction for women in seasonal factories, so that all women will be limited to ten hours work a day.

The proposal of the Labour Commission to extend greatly the hours within which women may be employed has not been accepted. The limits for women's and children's work are fixed at 6 a.m. and 7 p.m. Children may work not more than 5 hours daily and it is proposed that they should, in no circumstances, be required to work on weekly holiday. It is also proposed that persons between the ages of fifteen and seventeen should only be employed on adult hours after being certified as fit for the purpose.

Provision relating to intervals has been greatly simplified and it is proposed to control spread-over (i.e. hours over which working day may be spread). Thus hours for an adult must allow of eleven hours away from the factory in the 24 hours and hours of a child must be spread over a longer period than seven and a half hours. Other notable changes include the provision of further protection against danger to workers from unsafe buildings, from unhealthy processes and from excessive temperatures.

Welfare provisions are also enlarged but not to extend proposed by the Whitley Commission. Provisions relating to registers and fixing of hours have been greatly clarified and relaxations have been provided for factories where for any reason the hours cannot reasonably be fixed beforehand. Exempting provisions follow the old lines but the period for which exemptions may be valid is limited in order to secure their periodical review. Penalties are left at the present levels but provision is made for minimum penalties in the case of repeated offences.—A.P.

CONTROL OVER TEA EXPORTS

Govt. Decide To Give Official Recognition To Scheme

SIMLA, Sept. 8.

In the Legislative Assembly today, Mr. G.S. Bajpai introduced a Bill to provide for control over the export of tea from India and control over the extension of cultivation of tea in British India.

The statement of objects and reasons says:—

"In October 1932. representatives of the Indian tea industry, approached the Government of India with a view to securing their support to an international scheme for the restriction of exports of tea. The condition of the industry was precarious and the collapse of many concerns was imminent. Government, there fore expressed their willingness to consider on its merits any practical scheme that might be put forward.

FEATURES OF SCHEME.

The Indian Tea Association, acting for the industry, produced a scheme which had the support of the tea interests, both in Ceylon and the Netherlands East Indies. The main features of the scheme were: (1) that exports of tea would be restricted to a percentage of maximum exports from each producing country in any of the three years. 1929. 1930 and 1931; (2) that the restriction scheme would remain in force for five years, commencing on April 1, 1933 and (3) that during this period the existing areas under tea would not be extended beyond 1|2 per cent of the present planted area.

RESULT OF REFERENDUM.

The scheme also provided that heads of agreement would be enforced in each of the contracting countries by the Government concerned. The results of a referendum issued to all the known tea estates have been examined and it appears that over 92 per cent. of the industry reckoned in terms of production have expressed themselves in favour of the scheme. The Governments of Madras, Assam and Bengal, within whose jurisdiction the bulk of the tea in British India is cultivated, are prepared to restrict the issue of fresh leases for tea cultivation for the period of agreement and have also agreed to the restriction of planting in the areas already leased. The Indian Association have expressed themselves as strongly in favour of the scheme as the British interests.

GOVERNMENT'S DECISION.

Government have, therefore, decided to give official recognition to the scheme, and to give legislative sanction to its operation. The Governments of Netherlands East Indies and Ceylon have already passed laws to give effect to the agreement."—A.P.

TRADE AND FINANCE

BULLS SECURE PROFITS IN SECURITIES

Gold Market Firm With Upward Tendency

WEEKLY MARKET REVIEWS

(From Our Special Correspondent) Bombay, Sept. 8

This was a short working week owing to all the financial markets closed for the bank holidays.

MONEY.

Pre-holiday easiness characterised the money market during the period under report and call funds were unlendable even at 1/2 percent. Government sold treasury bills to the extent of Rs. 1 1/2 crores at the average rate of Rs. 0-14-2 and maturitie during the same period amounted to one crore. In view probably of the comparatively large ma urities during this and the following month, Government have reintroduced the sale of intermediates at Rs. 99-12-9 percent, but reserved themselves the right to withdraw without notice. The trade demand as per the latest statement of the Bank shows a decrease of Rs. 131.70 lakhs. The following are the fixed deposit rates:—One to three months 1 percent and six months 1 1/2 percent.

GILT-EDGED SECURITIES.

Gilt-edged were somewha. quieter in the early part of the week, but a slightly steadier tone was manifest at the close. Profit taking by bulls and baseless rumours in the market regarding the suspension of forward trading by the Bombay Stock Exchange authorities in securities accounted for the early easiness. 3 1/2 per cent Paper after declining from Rs. 85-12 to Rs. 84-10 improved and closed at Rs. 85-1. Other securities showed little change 3 1/2 percent New Loan due 1947-50 quietened to Rs. 94-15. 4 percent 1960-70 Loan kept steady and closed at Rs. 98-9, 1934-37 loan at Rs. 101-15 and 1943s at Rs. 101-7. 4 per cent 1955-60 Loan is quoted at Rs. 105-11 and 1934 bonds at Rs. 102/6. 5 percent 1935 loan showed no change at Rs. 104-10. 1939-44 loan improved to Rs 107-3, 1940-43s to Rs. 107-4 and 1945-55 loan to Rs. 103-8. 5 1/2 percent 1938-40 loan remained steady at Rs. 108-8. 6 1/2 percent Bombay Development Loan closed at Rs. 108-6 and 6-1/2 percent Treasury bonds at Rs. 107-8

EXCHANGE.

Sterling exchange was somewhat quieter with sellers of ready T. T. at 1s. 6-1/32 and buyers at 1s. 6-1/16d. Exports of gold which continued to be the mainstay of this market were slack during this week owing to rates here ruling over the export parity on most days Merchandise exports bills also were few and far between. Further more money continues cheap with three to six months time deposits quoted at 1 to 1-1/2 percent. Tenders of sterling to Government this week amounted to only £40,000 at 1s. 6-1/16d. The following quotation obtained in the forward market:—October to January 1/6-1/32

The dollar sterling quotation improved during the week from dol. 4.52-1/2 to dol. 58-1/4 but eased off to dol. 4.54 and closed at dol. 4.54 3/4. The Paris-London cross rate moved erratically and reached as low as 80.00 and after improving to 81.03 declined to 80.43 and closed at 80.59. The Belga moved between 22.60 and 22.76 and the Italian lira between 59.31 and 60.18.

GOLD.

Wide fluctuations characterised the gold market this week following movements in the London-Paris cross rate. The tone on the whole was firm with an upward tendency. The price of ready after an initial rise to Rs. 32-12-6 dropped to Rs. 32-3-6 in mid-week and recovered and closed at Rs. 32-9-0 per tola. The premium on forward has shrunk from about 9 pies a month to 3 to 6 pies. Business was largely inter-bazar and mostly on bear account. Arrivals from upcountry are also reported to be comparatively small, with stocks approximating 4 lakhs tolas. The daily offtake continues small at 300 to 4000 tolas a day. The rate for sovereigns moved sympathetically and rising to Rs. 20-10-9 and Rs.20-11-0 for ready and forward declined to Rs. 20-8 and Rs. 20-8-3 but closed at Rs. 20-9-0 and 20-9-3 respectively. The quotation for gold in London advanced to 131sh. 3d but eased to 130sh. 4d and closed at 131sh. Last week's shipment of gold per S. S "Chitral" amounted to Rs. 83.24 lakhs. In our market the highest and lowest rates during the week were Rs. 32-12-6 and Rs. 32-3-6 for ready and September 5 settlement and Rs. 32-12-9 and Rs. 32-2-9 for October 4 settlement. The total imports during the week amounted to Rs. 65,990 in bar and coin.

SILVER.

Prices in the silver market were maintained during the early part of the week, but there was a sharp decline in mid-week following advices from Shanghai with an upward reaction towards the close. Trading however, was small and confined to carry-overs owing to the approach of settlement. The quotation for ready declined from Rs. 55-15 to Rs. 55-4 but closed at Rs. 55-9 per 100 tolas. The daily offtake was poor averaging some 25 to 30 bars with stocks still standing at the large figure of 10,000 bars. In Shanghai the dollar moved between 1s. 3-1/4 and 1s. 3-1/8d. The highest and lowest rates in London were 18-3/16d and 18-1/16d for ready and 18-5/16d and 18-1/8d for forward. In our market the highest and lowest rates were Rs. 55-14 and Rs. 55-4 for ready, Rs. 56-1 and Rs. 55-5 for September 9 settlement and Rs. 56-6 and Rs. 55-10 10 October 10 settlement. The total imports during the week amounted to 291,701 in coin.

SHARES.

There were three working days on the Stock exchange and the tone of the market was steady with prices maintained in all scrips. The volume of trading was narrow. Mill shares were somewhat quieter towards close owing to weak raw cotton. ENERGY comes from PROPER NOURISHMENT

Horlick's supplies the elements children need

USING up energy every moment of the day, growing children must be fully nourished if they are to keep healthy and strong. Ordinary meals too often are lacking in some of the elements that children need—or do not supply them in such a way as to enable the growing body quickly to make use of them.

Let Horlick's supplement the diet of your little ones, for in Horlick's, which is full-cream cows' milk enriched with the nutritive extracts of wheat and malted barley, are the body-building elements every child needs. And being partially pre-digested during manufacture, Horlick's is assimilated quickly and easily, giving generously of its nourishing qualities.

For best results, prepare Horlick's with the Horlick's Mixer—it gives an extra creaminess that children love.

COTTON MARKETS AWAIT BUREAU REPORT

Short Covering And Hedge Selling

CROP ESTIMATE NOT LIKELY TO BE BEARISH

Official Agencies Buying May Delivery

BOMBAY, Sept. 8.

The Second Bureau report will be received here to-night at about 9.35 p.m. Private estimates show an increase of about 4 lacs of bales over the last estimate issued a month ago but there seems to be on reason for any material increase in the production as enough provision was made for prospective weather. Private crop estimates received here are as under:—

"Daily News Record"	12,924,000 Bales.
Clement Curtis & Co.	12.608.000 Bales.
American Crop Service	12,512,000 Bales.
Members N.Y. C. Exchange	12,352,000 Bales.
Fossick Bureau	11,683,000 Bales.
Journal of Commerce	11,080.000 Bales.

It is difficult to form any reliable idea about the growing American Cotton crop as the area under cotton cultivation is subject to material change. Last month the official crop estimate was a surprise to the cotton trade as the prospective crop was expected about a million bales more than the average expectation.

Ginning returns received so far indicate that the crop is early in some parts and ab normal heat over Texas caused some premature opening.

The market is well liquidated and if prices decline after the Bureau report we think it would be quite a fair chance to purchase as we believe these factors in the situation which may produce a rapid rise despite the present bearish outlook from a supply point of view and increased hedge selling.

Two destroyers left for Cuba from Newport. The Destroyer Overton has been ordered to the Isle of Pines, where the American Colony fears an outbreak among 2,000 convicts in the Model prison.

TENSE SITUATION

Troops have erected machine-guns at various places and have orders to fire if there is the slightest disturbance. All street demonstrations have been banned, and the Government palace is heavily guarded.

Twenty-five American warships are either here or are coming, and the report persist that the United States intends to ask the revolutionary Government to hand power to Dr. Cespedes for the formation of a Coalition Government.—Reuter's Special.

WHITE PAPER PROPOSALS OFFER NO HOPES

I. L. A. Supporters Criticise Government Policy And Issue A Warning

LONDON, Sept. 7.

Criticism of the Government's policy is contained in a statement issued by the Independent Labour Party supporters of the Indian cause, the Gandhi Society and the Indan National Congress League under the signatures of Messrs. Maxton, M.P., McGovern, M.P., Buchanan, M.P., and Fenner Brockway.

The statement says that the White Paper proposals offer no hopes, and the Tory, Liberal and Labour representatives in the Select Committee must realise that the essentials of independence must be accepted before there can be peace between Britain and India.—Reuter.

SPANISH CABINET MAY RESIGN

Socialists Dissatisfied With Present Regime

MADRID, Sept 7

It is persistently rumoured that the resignation of the Government is imminent. Feeling has been general for some time that the energy and resourcee of Senor Azana, the Prime Minister, might be insufficient to stem the tide of political disaffection which is increasing in strength. The Socialists particularly have become more threatening, and it seems certain that a Socialist bid for power must be reckoned with should there be a question of a political struggle for mastery in the event of the fall of the Government.—Reuter.

STREETS PAVED WITH GOLD

Denver Notices Strange Phenomenon After Big Flood

DENVER (By Mail)

The Streets of Denver are literally paved with gold.

The 40,000,000 tons of mud washed here recently by a flood from Cherry Valley, and piled thick on many streets, holds an average of 20 cents per ton in free gold, according to an assay taken by the United States Mint, which estimates that approximately dols. 10,000,000 worth of gold was brought here by the raging waters.

Following the announcement a gold-rush began to the mudcovered streets, and hundreds of unemployed are to-day sitting in the pouring rain monotonously twirling stagnant water and mud through their gold pans in an attempt to obtain some of the dols. 10,000,000.

The panning is slow process because the gold is thinly distributed among the tons of deposits but some of the patient toilers have recovered small quantities of the precious metal from the debris of the deluge. One of the modern forty-niners was heard to say, "It's an ill flood that washes no "good."

Mr. Gulabrai Sanghavi, son of Mr. Chaturdas Ghelabhai, a pleader of Rajkot who sailed for England on Thursday for qualifying for the Indian Civil Service and for being called to the Bar. He is the first Jain graduate in Kathiawar and the second graduate in the whole province to offer his candidature for I. C. S. Examination.

SCRAMBLE FOR SEATS

Split Threatened In Assembly Central Party

RESERVE BANK COMMITTEES

Mr. Ankleasaria Of Centre Party To Be Asked To Resign Deputy Leadership?

(From Our Special Correspondent)

SIMLA, Sept. 8.

The rush to get on the Reserve Bank Select Committees, seem to have led to a serious split in the Centre Party of Assembly. The party met and unanimously adopted the name of Rao Bahadur Pundit. On the other hand it seems that Mr. Ankiesaria, the absentee, deputy leader of the party had either asked for being put on the committee or expressed his willingness when Government sounded him to serve on the committee.

The Centre party held a meeting and thought that Mr. Ankiesaria had acted wrongly in not consulting the party beforehand and that as it was against Party discipline, and that he should be asked to resign the deputy leadership.

Another complication seems to have been caused by the fact that Raja Krishnamacharya the absentee leader of the party is also reported to have expressed a desire to serve on the Select Committee and it remains to be seen how this little storm is got over.

OBJECTS AND REASONS OF BILL

SIMLA, Sept. 8.

The Reserve Bank Bill, which is down for introduction in the Legislative Assembly to-day has the following statement of objects and reasons attached to it:—

"The object of this bill is to set up a Reserve Bank for India. The Federal Structure Sub-Committee of the First Round Table Conference recommended that with a view to ensuring confidence in the management of Indian credit and currency, efforts should be made to establish on sure foundations and free from any political influences as early as may be found possible, a reserve bank which would be entrusted with the management of currency and exchange.

The Financial Safeguards Committee of the third Round Table Conference recommended that steps should be taken to introduce into the Indian Legislature a reserve bank bill conceived on the above lines as soon as possible.

In the report of that Committee it was also placed on record that the Secretary of State undertook that representative Indian opinion would be consulted in preparation of the proposals for the establishment of a reserve bank, including those relating to Reserves.

A representative Committee was set up to give effect to that dertaking and a copy of its report is attached as annexture. The present bill is drafted in a accordance with the recommendations of that Committee.

Notes are appended explaining the provisions of the Bill and number of points have been left for discussion by the Joint Select Committee.—A. P.

Wall Street was quiet but steady.—Reuter.

GANDHI-JAWAHARLAL PARLEYS WILL LAST FOR THREE DAYS

Mahatma Advises Caste Hindus To Do Their Bit On Harijan Day

POONA, Sept. 7.

The inmates of Parnakuti the keenly looking forward to the visit of Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru on Saturday evening by the Madras Express. It is likely that the Gandhi-Jawaharlal talks may go on for two or three days including Sunday which is Gandhiji's day of silence, and all those present here now including Mr. Birla will be staying here for this period. Mahatmaji is holding daily consultations with Mr. A. V. Thakkar, General Secretary of the Servants of Untouchables Society.

It is learnt that suggestions have been made by Mr. Thakkar to Gandhiji that he should devote himself exclusively to Harijan work for a period of one year in order to give the movement the necessary impetus. But it is not felt likely that Mahatmaji will thus agree to exclude all his political activities in favour of Harijan work. But there is at present little or no information forthcoming as to what will be his future plans. Much will depend on the Gandhi-Jawaharlal talks.

HARIJAN DAY PROGRAMME.

Mahatma has issued the following statement in connection with the oservance of Harijan Day on September 24: "The servants of Untouchables Society has declared the 24th of this month as Harijan Day. It is the anniversary of the Yeravda Pact miscalled the Poona Pact. It is a happy coincidence that the 24th is a Sunday. It is to be hoped that the day will be celebrated in a manner befitting the occasion. Each person and each Harijan organisation should take stock of his or it's years of activity and contribution to the removal of the canker of untouchability.

Societies and individuals can make a budget or resolutions for the year to follow. Subscriptions can be collected from door to door for the work to be done. All the various activities that have been hitherto followed will. I have no doubt, be taken up with greater emphasis on the 24th. I hope the Harijans will also take stock of their contribution towards their own purification and therefore the purification of Hinduism.

But there is no doubt that by far the greatest responsibility lies on the shoulders of Caste Hindus. Reformers should make it a point of winning over the orthodox people to the movement by gentleness, humility, self-sacrifice and increasing purity of character."—A. P.
